THROTTLED DOWN TO SAVE ENGINES

Weather Delays Start on Second Leg of World-Circling Adventure by $80,000 Big Laboratory.

By the Associated Press.
HONOLULU, March 18.—Amelia Earhart brought her huge "Flying Laboratory" roaring into Honolulu with a trans-Pacific speed mark today and retired to a Waikiki Beach residence to await better flying weather for the next leg of her flight around the world—a 4,532-mile adventure to tiny Howland Island.

The aviatrix hoped to take off again tomorrow.

She first had planned only a brief stop here. The motor of her ship had been warmed up a short time before she announced the delay to await better flying weather, forecast for tomorrow.

"I'm terribly tired," she said as she told of handling the controls most of last night, relinquishing them only as she approached Wheeler Field for a landing.

Although Miss Earhart and her crew of three men deliberately throttled down the $80,000 "Flying Laboratory" to save it for other perilous stretches on the world flight, it covered the 2,400 miles from Oakland, Cal., in 15 hours 51 1/2 minutes. This trimmed one hour, 6 1/2 minutes from the previous mark of 16 hours, 58 minutes by the Hawaii Clipper last December.

Amid the cheers of several hundred early morning spectators, some of them still in evening dress, Miss Earhart stepped out of the plane behind Paul Mantz, then came her navigators, Captain Harry Manning and Fred J. Noonan.

Still bareheaded and wearing slacks and leather jacket, Miss Earhart received flower leis from a reception committee of army officers.

Asked how the flight compared with her solo hop from Honolulu to Oakland in 1935, Miss Earhart said it seemed "longer."

It was not longer, however. Her flight of January 11, 1935, required 18 hours 16 minutes to cover the same 2,400 miles, in the other direction.

A few minutes after the landing Miss Earhart was taken to the home of Lieutenant Colonel John McDonnell for a rest, while Mantz, her technical adviser, groomed her plane for the trip.

Clipper to Delay.
The pioneering Pan-American Clipper with the veteran sea flyer Edwin C. Musick and a crew of five bound for New Zealand to blaze the trail of another commercial trans-Pacific route, covered the 2,400 miles in 19 hours 6 minutes. It was ordered to remain here at least three days before leaving for Kingman Reef, 1,000 miles south of Honolulu. It will go from there to Auckland by way of Samoa.

Two 13-Year-Old Brides Wed In Atlanta Last October

One Is Expectant Mother; Husbands Are 18 and 20;
Romances Started in Play Yard at Hapeville
Residence of Participants.

Two little girls of Hapeville, 13-years-old, were married, on October 1, it was revealed yesterday, in a double ceremony which took place in Atlanta. The minister who performed the ceremony, according to the marriage certificates, was the Rev. Joseph B. Cox, and witnesses were William D. Eubanks and Inez Hathcox.

The child brides are Mrs. Elizabeth Cockran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Snell, of 3411 Stewart avenue, Hapeville, and Mrs. Maggie Snell, who lives with her aunt on Virginia avenue, Hapeville. Their husbands are Thomas Cockran, 20, and Victor Snell, 18.

Little Mrs. Cockran, seen yesterday at her mother's home, where she and her husband have lived since their marriage, more than five months ago, is a small girl, pretty in a demure sort of way and very quiet. If all goes well she will be a mother in a few more months.

Before her marriage she was a pupil at the College Avenue grammar school in Hapeville, where she was a particularly bright scholar. She was born, her mother said, with the gift of music and, though she never had a music lesson, she can play any tune she hears upon the piano.

Her husband is 20 years old. He is employed in an Atlanta garage and is proud of his child wife. They are, both the bride and her mother said yesterday, "very happy," and the parents have accepted the situation and believe it will, in time, "work out all right."

TWO ATLANTANS KILLED BY AUTOS

Hit-Run Driver Sought in Brutal Death of Woman on Lee Street.

An Atlanta woman was killed by the speeding car of a hit-run driver and a 17-year-old Tech High school student was killed, and another injured, in automobile accidents early last night.

The victim of the hit-run driver was identified as Miss Marie Peacock, of 940 Katherine drive. She had just alighted from an outbound East Point street car, on Lee street, at what is known as the Cluett-Peabody stop, when she was struck by a sedan traveling at terrific speed.

Miss Peacock was tossed several feet into the air. Virtually every bone in her body was broken. Both legs, several ribs and her left arm were broken, and her skull was crushed.

She was pronounced dead upon arrival at Grady hospital, and the body was taken to the mortuary of A. C. Hemperley & Sons.

Fulton county police immediately began an investigation, although handicapped by lack of clues. Witnesses said they did not know if the driver of the hit-run car was a white man or negro.

The other accident, in which Charles Sever, of a Ponce de Leon avenue address was instantly killed, occurred on the Lawrenceville-Bufford highway, about two miles north of Lawrenceville.

The other accident, in which Charles Lewis Seaver, of 817 Ponce de Leon avenue, was instantly killed, occurred on the Lawrenceville-Bufford highway about 10 miles this side of Buford. Jimmie Clark, 16, of 785 Ponce de Leon avenue, said to have been the driver of the car, was critically injured.

The only account of the wreck came from the driver of the car, who was not injured.

Assembly Geared to Clear All Bills at Record Speed

Administration Leaders Give Assurance "Must" Legislation Will Be Passed Before Session Ends on Thursday; Both Branches Restrict Debate.

Rivers administration leaders yesterday geared the general assembly into the hottest pace seen in Georgia's legislative halls in many years and gave definite assurances that all "must" legislation would be cleaned up before final adjournment next Thursday night, including a general appropriations bill, prohibition repeal and tax measures needed to finance the Governor's program.

The terrific drive was launched yesterday when both house and senate began to shoot through bills with little or no debate. Included were an administration-sponsored measure to double the present state income taxes and two Rivers' measures designed to carry out the program of the Democratic platform for the state, a bill placing the president of the senate and the speaker of the house on all boards on which the Governor serves ex-officio and another to carry on an investigation of the Talmadge administration by the state auditor.

Leaders of both houses said that today, tomorrow and Monday they would work on bills originating in their respective houses and on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday the last three days of the session they would put the finishing touches on measure coming from across the halls.

Full Attendance Pledged.
Following a vote by the house which assured full attendance at Saturday's session and a pledge of full attendance at all remaining night sessions, Chairman William H. Key, of the appropriations committee, announced late yesterday that he will

THRILLS OF FLIGHT TOLD BY EARHART

Flyer Gives Credit to Her Navigators for Breaking of Pacific Record.

By AMELIA EARHART.
(Copyright, 1937, by New York Tribune, Inc., and The Atlanta Constitution.)
HONOLULU, March 18.—The last time I saw Diamond Head was on January 11, 1935. It was nearly dusk on that cloudy afternoon when my heavily laden Lockheed Vega climbed to get off Wheeler field and, climbing laboriously, headed eastward over Honolulu, bound for the California coast. This morning at 5:40, Honolulu time, we sighted Diamond Head again after reversing the process of the previous voyage.

Making today's landfall was even more pleasurable than my first view of California's shore line. After all, it would require ingenuity to miss a continent, which I was aiming for then. Hawaii, however, is a much smaller mark, and I knew only too well how easily the islands could be missed.

Navigators Find Islands.
The credit for finding them belongs to my navigators, Harry Manning and Fred Noonan. They divided the activities of the Electra's improvement.

Court 'Can See His Side,'
But Invokes Law for Recalcitrant Witness.

Dr. Samuel Green, Atlanta physician and former chairman of the city Democratic executive committee, made himself at home at Fulton tower last night determined "not to violate the confidence of a woman patient."

Judge John D. Humphries had ordered the doctor held in contempt of court when he refused to divulge the name of a woman patient whom he had once treated and who the doctor contended was not connected in the case on trial.

"Every doctor in the state is affected by this order," Dr. Green said, "and if I were to betray a patient's confidence I would be destroying the relationship of confidence which exists between a physician and his patient. Under the circumstances I can not do otherwise than refuse to answer the immaterial question."

Voters of Mitchell Back Judicial Plan

CAMILLA, Ga., March 18.—(AP)—Mitchell county, home county of Congressman E. E. Cox, who is opposing President Roosevelt's court reorganization program, today voted more than five to one in favor of the President's proposals.

Seven out of 10 precincts gave: For the Roosevelt program, 1,714; against, 355. The final count was not expected to be announced until tomorrow. The total vote was expected to approximate 2,500.

Mitchell was the second county in the state and country to vote on the question, Randolph county having voted yesterday, six to one, in support of the President's proposal.

Student Describes How Teacher Was Buried
Under Debris of Blast.

KILGORE, Texas, March 18.—(UP)—Lying on a hospital cot here, blonde, grey-eyed Paula Echols, 15, junior student in the London Consolidated school, still shook from fright tonight as she told of the explosion which demolished the building and killed hundreds of her schoolmates.

"Everything was very quiet and about 20 of us were studying English in our classroom," she said, "when the building seemed to shake and the entire roof fell in on us, all at once."

"A huge piece of brick and mortar fell between my desk and my teacher, burying her except for one leg and a corner of her desk."

"Everyone started screaming and a boy seated across the aisle from me cried, 'Oh, help me.'"

"I was pinned underneath my desk, unable to move. One of the boys seated next to the window, who was not struck by the falling beam, pulled me out and crawled outside with me."

Emergency Calls Are Broadcast Throughout

in Rescue Work; Ambulances Keep Busy.

By The Associated Press.
NEW LONDON, Texas, March 19 (Friday).—Surveys early today showed 399 children and teachers known dead from a mysterious blast which demolished the New London Consolidated School late yesterday afternoon.

Rescue workers still were bringing out crushed bodies from the wreckage of the $1,000,000 structure and estimates of the total fatalities ran up to 670 of the 740 pupils and teachers in the building at the time of the explosion.

The catastrophe was the worst of its kind in the nation's history and brought chaos into the heart of the great east Texas oil field.

Principal Troy Duran said the deaths probably would reach 670.

Governor James V. Allred declared martial law in the precinct, ordered in national guard troops and instructed that a military court of inquiry be set up to begin an investigation.

Highways Are Blocked.
Red Cross nurses, doctors by the score rushed against time to allay the confusion here—1,000 oil field workers tore at the debris, frenzied parents strove to find their children and hundreds of curious blocked the highways.

From Warm Springs, Ga., President Roosevelt announced last night he had ordered the Red Cross and all other governmental agencies to "stand by and render every assistance" to the little Texas community.

The President said he was shocked with the rest of the nation and could hope further information would "lessen the scope of this tragedy."

Superintendent W. C. Shaw, who lost a son in the explosion, theorized that it was caused by an accumulation of gas.

Shaw said that accumulated gas in a space between the floor of the one-story building and the ground undoubtedly caused the explosion. The building was heated by gas-steam radiators and there was no main boiler.

Seven hundred pupils and 40 teachers were in the building—most of them in the auditorium.
It was 3:20 p. m. (Atlanta time)—just 10 minutes before dismissal hour.

Suddenly with a force of tremendous proportions, the walls of the building began to shake. Pupils and teachers alike were trapped.

Walls Are Crushed.
A low rumble sounded. Many thought it was a boiler explosion. None was sure hours later.

Witnesses said there was an ear-hammering explosion after the grumbling roar that preceded the blast. The roof then, they said, moved up, the walls crashed outward, and the roof fell into the wreckage, crushing those within.

The high school building was wrecked. Flames shot forth for a time. Near by stood the grade school—empty—its several hundred pupils having already been dismissed for the day. Bricks hurtled through the air for a quarter of a mile. Children were decapitated. Some were mangled. Some lost limbs.

Superintendent Shaw likened the victims to rag dolls with their clothes torn off.

Some of the bodies were near the edge of the desolate heap of wreckage.

Rescue workers removed these first. One hundred bodies of children, few older than 15, were taken to Henderson, where they were laid out in improvised morgues awaiting identification. Ten bodies of their teachers were brought with them.

Curious Jam Roads.
The scene here was chaotic. Thousands of automobiles blocked all highways leading into this community, in the center of the vast east Texas oil field. Sight-seers and curious thronged elbow-to-elbow with parents of children trapped within the school.

There was an agonizing shortage of doctors and supplies to treat the injured. Emergency calls were broadcast throughout east Texas for physicians and nurses and for bandages. Supply houses emptied their stores.
When all ambulances and private cars had been filled with the dead,

Mother Lion's Jealousy Hides Sex Of Her Four Cubs From Inquisitive

By THE LION EDITOR.

Mystery still shrouds the sex of the four lion cubs at the Grant park zoo, the Lion Editor regrets to announce to the thousands of Atlanta school children who plan to take part in The Constitution's Lion-Namers' contest.

But don't think it's the Lion Editor's fault, nor that of George I. Simons, general manager of parks and a judge of the contest, nor even of Uncle Matt Leonard, the veteran keeper of the zoo.

The Lion Editor and Simons yesterday went into a cage with four lions (all babies, of course) and still were not able to determine how many sons and daughters Queen Martha has.

The entry was made while Martha was safely locked in another cage busily eating enough meat to feed about 14 people for a week. During the inspection of the cubs, Martha actually consumed 15 pounds of raw steak and almost ate the bone, too.

Uncle Matt told the Lion Editor it will be several days before he can tell which are boy cubs and which are girls. You see, no one can touch the cubs because if they do, Martha will kill them. The Lion Editor is of the opinion Uncle Matt would commit murder on the person who caused Martha to destroy her cubs.

Because this important knowledge of the number of boys and girls in the litter is still lacking, the Lion Editor has postponed the closing date of the contest until next Friday,

March 26, instead of March 23, which is Tuesday. Any school child in the city or county schools of Fulton and DeKalb can enter the contest and try for the awards. The Constitution is going to give the child who selects

West End Beer Sale Held Legal for City

Sale of wine and beer in the old incorporate limits of West End is legal if the city has given permission to the dealer, City Attorney Jack C. Savage ruled yesterday.

A resident of West End wrote Mayor Hartsfield this week that the city had agreed when taking in old West End never to license the sale of intoxicants in that section.

The city attorney said the legalization of wine and beer by the state in 1935 superseded the agreement made in 1933 as an amendment to the city's charter.

names of Jiggs, Scappi, Popeye, and Speedy for boy lions, and Dot, Darling, Dola and Lily Oyl for girl cubs. The Lion Editor assured Miss Pitts her list will be considered in the contest.

It will be turned over to Simons, Councilman of the city, and Joe Gregg, secretary to Mayor Hartsfield, who compose the board of judges. They will select the best list submitted and the cubs will be so called for the rest of their lives.

The Lion Editor (never having seen a 10-day-old lion before) was thrilled when he looked at Martha's family yesterday. They are the cutest little animals you ever saw. Just learning to walk, they tumble around as awkward as puppies and seem suddenly enough, which is a contrast to the demeanor of most grown lions.

Remember, any school child is eligible to enter the Lion Namers' contest. Select your names, write a short essay on why you like the names, and send your letter to the Lion Editor. It's all right to follow Miss Pitts' example and choose names for four boys and four girls. If you like, Rush the mail to the Lion Editor, care of The Constitution. Try for one of the awards totaling $17.50. You may win, you know.

LAWRENCE TO ATTEND CUBAN BAPTIST MEET

Dr. J. B. Lawrence, executive secretary-treasurer of the Baptist Home Mission Board, left Atlanta yesterday for Cuba, where he will attend the Western Cuban Baptist convention. The mission executive is scheduled to deliver five addresses at the annual meeting of Cuban Baptists, which will be held in the city of Pinar del Rio March 22-26.

In visiting the Cuban Baptist convention, Dr. Lawrence will have contact with the largest field of work of the Baptist Home Mission Board, officials said. The board has 72 missionaries who are serving 125 churches and mission stations in four provinces on the island.

PAINTERS REDECORATE HARTSFIELD'S OFFICE

Painters took the mayor's office in the absence of Mayor Hartsfield yesterday. When the walls of the office were done over at the beginning of the year, a substance which has subsequently decorated the coats of nearly every one of the mayor's numerous visitors was used in freshening up. Glenn Dewberry, superintendent of the building, yesterday ordered a new preparation daubed on the walls. It won't rub off.

CIVITAN OFFICIAL TO SPEAK TONIGHT

Arthur Candy Will Address Morningside P.T. A.

Annual Session.

Arthur Candy, of Birmingham, secretary of Civitan International, will address the Parent-Teachers Association of Morningside school at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the annual "daddy's night," in the school auditorium.

Mr. Candy, who served in the World War and in the Boer War, will discuss the "Effect of World Situations On American Democracy." Mrs. Herbert Z. Hopkins is president of the organization. Mr. Hopkins will preside as husbands of officers "take over" on "daddy's night" programs. Mr. Candy is a native of London, and well known as a brilliant and forceful speaker. He served as a drummer boy during the Boer War, and in the United States army during the World War, and has received numerous citations for bravery.

CIVIC LEADERS LAUD WORK ON AUDITORIUM ACCOMPLISHED BY WPA

Project Called Finest Contribution To Cultural Life Here in Years.

Atlanta civic leaders yesterday urged remodeling of Taft Hall and the front of the municipal auditorium as they inspected work now under construction by WPA and asserted it is the finest contribution to the civic and cultural life of the community in the past several years.

Under the leadership of Councilman John A. White, chairman, and other members of the municipal buildings and athletic committee, in charge of the auditorium, those present inspected a number of seats and other equipment which will be necessary to open the structure to the public within the next three months.

L. B. Barrett, assistant district supervisor of operations, who represented J. T. Durrett Jr., fifth district WPA administrator, said that WPA's pledge to complete the work now in progress by June 15, the date set for formal presentation of the remodeled auditorium to Atlantans in a fitting centennial celebration, to be sponsored by The Atlanta Constitution.

"We propose to turn the building over to the city by June 15," Barrett said. "That is the date set for completion of operations now under way."

To Cost $161,000.

Remodeling of the building front and Taft Hall will cost another $161,000, according to engineers' estimates. No definite estimate as to what the city's part of the projected new undertaking has yet been made, but it is agreed that WPA probably would be able to do the job in the event WPA work is extended. There was a generally accepted promise that WPA could not complete the proposed new work by June 30, the time limit for WPA operations at the present moment.

A. L. Belle Isle, president of the Atlanta Convention Bureau, who was among those who made the inspection, praised the work now under construction, asserting it is a fine and permanent contribution to Atlanta.

"I think no finer thing could have come to Atlanta than this remodeling of the auditorium," he said. "The work under progress now is a fitting nucleus making Atlanta a real convention center."

"The front of the building and Taft Hall should be remodeled as soon as possible, and another structure should be built on the east to give ample exhibition halls. When this is done and when the grounds are beautified, Atlanta will be without a peer in the country when convention facilities are under consideration."

Should Revive Spirit.

"We have lost thousands of dollars because of inadequate auditorium facilities. We should start to build now to make Atlanta the great convention center it formerly was—to revive the ancient indomitable Atlanta spirit."

Mrs. Elmer Slicker, of the P. T. A., expressed regret that the building will not be completed in time for graduation exercises for Atlanta school children, but added her word of praise.

"We are sorry that the work cannot be finished in time for graduation exercises, but we would rather it would be done right as it is being done and know it will be there for other graduations," she asserted. "I think the interior of the auditorium will be one of the most beautiful buildings of its kind in the entire country."

J. A. (Gus) Harper, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, asserted the work "on the auditorium is all that could be asked," adding, "it is one of the best pieces of construction I have seen."

Syrup Turns Vinegar To Hungry Negro

"Did you steal this vinegar, Bridges?" Judge Hugh M. Dorsey asked Bridges Ponder when he entered a plea of guilty to burglary charges in Fulton superior court yesterday.

"Mister Judge, I took that vinegar when I was very hungry. I thought it was syrup."

"I was awful hungry, Judge," he added.

Ponder was caught in a grocery store on West Hunter street, S. E., as he was placing groceries in a bag.

The judge believed the hunger story and sentenced him to a five-year suspended sentence.

Key, president of the Lions Club, and many other civic leaders and newspapermen were among the surveying party. All of them were enthusiastic about the work now in progress and expressed the hope that it will be finished on time.

The federal government will have expended $471,547 on the structure when the present undertaking is completed, which has spent $37,420. A total of 3,000 cubic yards of concrete, enough to pave about 15 miles of regulation size road, and 207 tons of structural steel already has been used in the work.

B. J. Parker has succeeded H. W. Livingston, former superintendent of operations there, it was explained yesterday. Mr. Livingston has been transferred to other WPA work where his knowledge of foundation construction was needed badly. Durrett praised Livingston for the fine job he has performed for WPA and said he would continue as one of the most valued superintendents in the service.

15-YEAR SENTENCE GIVEN SHOPLIFTER

Term Suspended If Family Returns Miss Williams to Carolina Home.

Miss Mittie Williams, indicted here on 15 counts of shoplifting, yesterday entered a plea of guilty in Fulton superior court and was given a 15-year suspended sentence by Judge Hugh M. Dorsey.

The judge held she must pay all court costs and must serve the sentence if her brother did not take her back to her South Carolina home. Atlanta merchants who had been her victims agreed to the recommendation of the court as "she had returned most of the stolen goods."

Miss Williams is the 38-year-old mystery woman whose identity baffled police for nearly a year. Members of her family wrote local authorities they had identified her through pictures and descriptions in the papers and would come for her immediately. She has been missing a year, they wrote.

She was charged with 14 felony counts and one misdemeanor. On the first count she drew 10-10 years, on the second 5-5 years to follow count one, and 5-5 years to run concurrently on all others, making 15 years she will be under probation.

MISSION CONFERENCE TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK

Columbia Theological Seminary, in Decatur, announced yesterday the spring missionary conference of the Society of Missionary Inquiry will be held on the campus Monday through Saturday.

A feature of the conference will be planned missionary trips to foreign lands. Now on furlough. Speakers will include: Rev. Donald A. Swicord, Korea; Rev. J. K. Johnston, Brazil; Rev. A. L. Davis, Brazil, and Rev. George A. Hudson, China.

Addresses will be heard during the week at 10:20 o'clock in the mornings and at 7:20 o'clock each night.

FULTON MAY ENACT PHYSICAL TEST LAW

Study of the proposed city ordinance forcing domestic servants to take physical examinations was begun yesterday by the public health committee of the Fulton County Medical Society with a view of requesting similar regulations to be passed by the county.

Alderman Roy E. Callaway, author of the proposed ordinance, discussed it Wednesday night before the board of trustees of the society, explaining his proposals.

PRISON COMMITTEE WILL VISIT PLANTS

Milledgeville, Louisville, Swainsboro, Tatnall County on Itinerary.

A schedule of visits to be made tomorrow and Sunday by the senate penitentiary committee to state penal institutions at Milledgeville and in Tatnall county was announced yesterday by Senator Lee Purdom, chairman.

The party will leave here tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock, scheduled to arrive at the prison farm near Milledgeville at 11:30 o'clock going via Madison. They will leave Milledgeville at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon, after being entertained at a barbecue dinner there at noon, for Louisville, where they will view the old landmarks and the slave market. Tomorrow night will be spent in Swainsboro.

Leaving Swainsboro Sunday morning at 8:30 o'clock, the senators will go to the Tatnall county prison farm and are due to arrive there at 10:30 o'clock. At noon a lunch dinner will be served and they will leave for the return to Atlanta at 2 o'clock, expecting to arrive here at 5 o'clock.

DYNAMITE IS USED IN SEARCH FOR MAN

V. C. Meadows Missing Since February 25; Drowning Was Reported.

County police dynamited in the Chattahoochee river yesterday in an effort to recover the body of J. C. Meadows, reported drowned when thrown off the Holcomb bridge February 25.

A. P. Dodd, dynamite man for the county, and a crew of three, shot up a case of dynamite to no avail. More blasts will be made in the next few days, he said.

Meadows was reported thrown from the bridge while cranking his car, which had stalled. The car is alleged to have kicked violently, knocking the man over the guard rail.

THREE MEALS A DAY HOME TESTED RECIPES

BY Sally Saver

Mild weather and the high cost of lems. Eggs are abundant, the price feed are playing a game of egg-tricks is attractive, and the quality is good, with hens everywhere. The result is Now is the time for egg breakfasts, truly a bonanza for the homemaker egg dinners, egg suppers, and egg beset with Lenten meal planning problems. Now is the time to in-duge in practice to develop skill and technique for the superlative lunch that makes for good products that are your delight but the secret envy of your best friend or neighbor. So whether it is a fluffy omelet, a delicate savory souffle, a cream filling for pie, a fine creamy-rich frozen dessert, a layer cake, or a special egg salad, you can afford to indulge your fancy and whim. An egg that is kept cold or reasonably cool will retain its fresh quality for a long time. Refrigeration in the home is very important. But strange as it may seem, a warm egg performs better in cooking and in preparation for cooking than a chilled egg. So whatever the preparation—frying, boiling, beating, etc.—time should be allowed so that the egg may lose its refrigeration chill before cooking is started. This will do away with broken yolks in fried eggs, cracked shells with leaky contents in "boiled" eggs, and it makes for quicker beating and larger volume in beaten eggs.

A few hard-cooked eggs on hand in the refrigerator present a wealth of meal possibilities and solutions to menu problems. But to serve their purpose with 100 per cent satisfaction, there should be some attention paid to the cooking. The success of any egg cooking is to keep them tender. The choking or "choked-throat" feeling often experienced with the egg is because it has been cooked at too high temperature or for too long a time, or both.

There are two methods for cooking eggs in the shell to make the contents firm without being too mealy: (1) Start the eggs in saucepan in cold water to cover. Heat water gradually to the simmering point, cover, but do not let it boil. Hold the water at this point for 30 minutes. Or (2) cover the eggs with hot water in the upper part of the double boiler with boiling water in the lower part. Cook about 20 minutes after the water in the lower part starts to boil. It is obvious that the second method has some points in its favor.

In either case at the end of the cooking period pour off the hot water, and cool completely and immediately by allowing cold water to flow over the eggs. Or, change the water several times. This is essential if the shell is to be removed easily and quickly and if the dark, unattractive ring which sometimes forms between the yolk and white is to be avoided. Cooking the eggs at the boiling temperature sometimes causes the ring to form permanently. If the cooked eggs are not used within a day it is best to store them without peeling.

Rocking Chair Strike Transferred to Jail

Ben Young, negro, was charged with stealing two rocking chairs. "Looks like you wanted to start a sit-down strike," Judge T. O. Hathcock commented.

"Yes sir, boss man, me old lady and I want getting along so I was just moving out."

The judge ruled he was moving out the wrong house and ordered the sit-down strike staged in jail unless Ben paid a $35 fine.

ning refreshments will be quite complete except for beverage with a sandwich loaf. Prepared several hours in advance it will be a right choice for flavors, color, attractiveness, ease of service and general popularity.

SANDWICH LOAF WITH EGG LAYER FILLING

Egg Filling.
Four hard-cooked eggs, 1-3 cup of chopped cooked bacon, or 1-3 cup of stuffed olives, few drops Worcestershire sauce, cream or salad dressing. Chop eggs, add bacon and Worcestershire. Add enough cream or dressing to give a spreading consistency.

Chicken Filling.
One cup ground meat, 1-2 cup ground almonds, 2 to 4 tablespoons chopped celery, salt and lemon juice, salad dressing to moisten (cooked, French or mayonnaise).

Cheese Filling.
Two packages or one 4-ounce glass of cheddar cheese, enough salad dressing to make a paste.

Frosting.
One-fourth to 1-3 pound cream cheese, water or milk to make a paste. Beat cheese and liquid until evenly mixed and of good consistency for spreading. Cut a 1-2-pound loaf of whole wheat or white bread into 4 lengthwise slices except for two outside surfaces with softened butter. Spread egg filling on first slice. Cover with second slice and spread this slice with the chicken filling. Continue in same manner with the cheese filling. Cover with the fourth slice and frost the entire loaf with the paste. Do not smooth but rather leave in rough swirls. Let the loaf stand in the refrigerator several hours before serving.

If a meatless filling must be chosen to meet certain requirements of a Lenten menu, a sharp cheese may be substituted for the chicken. Chopped sweet pickle is a good additional flavor in this instance. Or, a fresh vegetable layer may be used—perhaps sliced tomatoes and salad dressing (the latter with the merest suggestion of onion). Be sure to peel the tomatoes. Do not use lettuce in the layer. It is apt to offer embarrassing slicing difficulties.

Shirred Eggs, Swiss Style.
Six large eggs, 6 tablespoons top cream, 1-2 cup finely chopped Swiss cheese, salt, pepper. Break the eggs into greased shirred egg dishes or deep fireproof saucers. Pour in the top cream. Sprinkle over the cheese. Dust sparingly with salt and plentifully with pepper. Place in a moderately hot oven and bake until eggs are set. Allow from 10 to 12 minutes.

Plum Omelet.

Four egg yolks, beaten; 1 tablespoon sugar, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 4 egg whites, beaten stiff; 4 tablespoons water, 2 tablespoons shortening, 4 tablespoons stewed sweetened red plums, confectioners' sugar.

Beat the egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Add the sugar and salt and continue beating until smooth. Beat the egg whites until stiff. Add the water and combine the egg-yolk mixture.

Melt and heat the shortening in a large omelet pan, but don't brown. Place the egg mixture in the pan and place over low heat until the edges begin to set. Place in a moderate oven and bake until firm to the touch. Remove from the oven and spread the omelet with fruit. Fold together carefully and turn onto a hot platter. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar and serve at once.

Poached Eggs.

Fill shallow pan with water; let it come to boiling point and salt slightly. To keep eggs from spreading use muffin rings or a poacher. Grease the inside of rings and place them in boiling water. Break eggs and slip one into each compartment. Cook slowly, keeping water below the boiling point. Remove eggs with skimmer and serve on hot buttered toast with crisp bacon curls or on golden brown toast.

Cream Fried Eggs.

Heat 1 tablespoon bacon fat in skillet; add 4 eggs, cook 1-2 minutes and add 1-2 cups cream, 1-2 teaspoon salt. Cook 1-2 minute longer or until white is firm. Add salt.

SALMON FRITTERS.

(Serves 6)
Two eggs, 1-2 cup milk, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1 cup general purpose flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon paprika, 1 cup canned salmon (drained), 1 cup canned corn (drained).

Beat eggs and to them add the milk and melted butter. Mix and sift together the flour, salt, baking powder and paprika. Then pour the liquid ingredients slowly into the dry ingredients, mixing lightly with spoon. Add the well-drained salmon and the corn. Drop by tablespoons into hot deep fat (heated to 370 degrees) and fry until golden brown. Serve with parsley sauce.

A perfect accompaniment to serve with these salmon fritters is parsley sauce, and here is a way you will enjoy making it.

Parsley Sauce.

Two tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1 hard-cooked egg (chopped), 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon parsley (finely chopped), 1 tablespoon onion (finely chopped). Melt the butter in saucepan and to it add the flour. Blend thoroughly and then add the milk. Cook slowly, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Then add the hard-cooked egg, salt, parsley and onion. Heat thoroughly and serve piping hot over the salmon fritters.

Inexpensive? Unusual? Good to eat? Yes! This salmon fritter combination has all of these assets to recommend it—and, we recommend that you immediately add it to your favorite gold star list of recipes.

SERVING ON SUNDAY.

Breakfast: Grapefruit, Waffles and Honey, Broiled Bacon, Coffee, Dinner: Chilled Fruit Juices, Braised Chicken, Cream Gravy, Wild Rice, Buttered Turnips, Biscuits, Plum Jelly, Spiced Peas, Steamed Carrot Pudding, Sauce, Coffee, Supper: Jellied Fish Loaf, Bread, Potato Chips, Chocolate Cake, Butter, Coffee.

Steamed Carrot Pudding.
One cup grated raw carrots, 1 cup grated raw potatoes, 1 cup grated raw apples, 1 cup raisins (optional), 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon salt, 2-3 cup chopped suet, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup flour, 1-2 teaspoons soda.

Either grate the vegetables and apples or put them through the food chopper. Combine all the ingredients and half-fill greased pudding molds. Steam 3 hours. Unmold and bake 10 minutes in a moderate oven to dry off. Serve warm with sauce.

Sauce.
One cup sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1-4 cup lemon juice, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 cups boiling water. Blend the sugar, flour and salt. Add the rest of the ingredients and boil 2 minutes. Serve hot.

Jellied Fish Loaf.

One package lemon-flavored gelatin mixture, 1-2 cup boiling water, 1-3 cup salad dressing, 1 cup cooked salmon, 1-2 cup diced celery, 2-hard-cooked eggs, diced; 1-4 cup chopped sweet pickles, 2 tablespoons minced pimientos, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon paprika.

Dissolve the gelatin in the water. Cool and allow to thicken slightly. Add the rest of the ingredients. Chill until firm.

Breakfast Menu.

Chilled Stewed Figs, Cooked Corn Cereal, Milk, Poached Eggs, French Toast, Honey, Coffee.

Luncheon Menu.

Celery Soup, Pickles, Salted Wafers, Coconut Cookies, Tea, Peach Sauce.

Tomato Sauce, Buttered Potatoes, Creamed Turnips, Bread, Apricot Conserves, Vegetable Perfection Salad, Cherry Pie, Coffee.

Vegetable Perfection Salad.
One package lemon-flavored gelatin mixture, 1-2 cups boiling water, 1-3 cup vinegar, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1-3 teaspoon salt, 2-3 cup cooked peas, 2-3 cup grated carrots, 1-2 cup chopped cabbage, 2 tablespoons minced pimientos, 2 tablespoons chopped green peppers.

Dissolve the gelatin in the water. Add vinegar, sugar and salt. Cool. When a little thick add the rest of the ingredients. Pour into a mold and chill until firm.

Deep Dish Cherry Pie.

Two cups seeded red cherries, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup cherry juice, 2 tablespoons butter.

Blend the sugar with the cherries, flour and salt. Add rest of the ingredients and pour into a buttered, shallow baking dish or pie pan. Cover with the crust.

Crust.

One cup flour, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup fat, 3 tablespoons cold milk. Mix the flour and salt. Cut in the fat and slowly add the milk. Pat out the stiff dough to fit over the cherry mixture. Arrange the crust and make 4 slits in the top. Bake 35 minutes in a moderate oven. Top with half a cup of white cream cheese mixed with a little cream.

KIWANIANS TO AID
4-H CLUB MEMBERS

22 Members of Fulton, DeKalb Groups Will Be Sent to Athens.

Twenty-two members of the Fulton and DeKalb county 4-H clubs will be taken to the annual 4-H club meeting in Athens in August as guests of the Atlanta Kiwanis Club. Eleven boys and 11 girls will comprise the group. The Kiwanis Club will appropriate $150 to defray their expenses. Selection of the representatives will be left up to the county and home demonstration agents of Fulton and DeKalb counties.

FREDERICK R. ALSTON
RITES SET FOR TODAY

Final rites for Frederick Roland Alston, former Atlanta attorney and law partner of Judge Hugh M. Dorsey, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at St. James Episcopal church, Marietta, with the Rev. Charles E. Wood officiating. Burial will be in St. James cemetery.

Mr. Alston was a descendant of a prominent American family and a descendant of John Rutledge, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. He retired several years ago and moved to England, later returning to this country to live in Georgia and Florida.

REPEAL BILL OKAYED
BY SENATE COMMITTEE WITHOUT ANY CHANGE

Vote in Upper House Is Expected to Come Tuesday.

A favorable report on the house repeal referendum bill was voted by the senate temperance committee yesterday afternoon and it will go to the floor in the same form in which it was received from the house.

Consideration of the bill by the committee lasted barely a minute. Senator David S. Atkinson, vice chairman of the committee on rules, offered the motion to report favorably and it was adopted immediately without discussion.

Senator John Neely, chairman of the temperance committee, said the vote was 11 to 1. Senator Aultman casting the only dissenting vote.

The bill was brought over from the house, where it passed yesterday, and was given a first reading and referred to the committee during the afternoon.

The bill will be put on second reading tomorrow, senate leaders said, and after that would be ready for third reading and a final vote.

President Spivey said it was planned to take the bill up with other house bills beginning Tuesday. He said there was a "slight possibility" the liquor vote may come Monday.

"We'll pass the bill by a four or five vote majority," said Floor Leader Dave Atkinson, of Savannah. Other wet leaders gave estimates much along the same line, one placing the majority

Detectives To Hear Lecture on Crime

Atlanta detectives will be in the audience when Dr. J. H. Mathews, head of the chemistry department, University of Wisconsin, demonstrates how science solves crime at 8 o'clock tonight in Britain Hall of Georgia Tech.

Dr. Mathews, who has aided in solving many murder mysteries, will be principal speaker at a meeting of the Georgia section of the American Chemical Society. Chemists from all over the state will attend.

Dr. Mathews' subject will be "The Use of Scientific Methods in the Identification of the Criminal." His talk will be illustrated with lantern slides and will deal principally with how science identifies murderers.

An invitation to members of the police department was extended and several last night indicated they would attend.

expected as few as three votes in the 61-member body.

Senator Aultman, a dry leader, said he knew of no organized bloc to conduct the fight against it.

"It will be just a straight floor fight," Aultman said.

He declined to predict the final vote but said "lots of senators are against it."

Aultman said he knew of no attempts that would be made to amend the measure.

Senator Shedd, of Jessup, one of the wet leaders, said the "bill is fairly safe here." He said he would speak in support of it.

Atkinson said Shedd and Senator Jeff Pope, of Cairo, would probably head up the repeal forces.

The measure as passed by the house would require a statewide referendum on repealing Georgia's 22-year-old dry law on June 8.

Should it pass at the referendum, counties desiring legalization of liquor would hold special elections on petition of ten per cent of the registered voters.

In those counties going wet, liquor would be sold in licensed privately-owned package stores only. The state would collect a tax on the stores and a gallonage tax on liquor sold.

SLEEPWALKER WOUNDS WIFE

LOS ANGELES, March 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Lila Dangerfield, 53, said she would testify at her husband's trial

April 9 that he actually was asleep when he jumped out of bed, seized a pistol and fired, wounding her in the hip.

Scottish fishermen have been experimenting with the electrical echosounder as a means of locating shoals of fish.

SMART BUYERS
BUY
SAYS YOUR GROCER

"My experience as a grocer has taught me one infallible way to distinguish a smart buyer. When one of my customers selects her brand of bread with the same care she does other things, I spot her right quick as a good housekeeper. When I thought why this should be I found the simple answer. Bread is the one food item that is eaten with everything else; therefore, it is the most important thing I sell. Rich, fresh, soft-textured bread can do more to help keep everyday meals from growing monotonous than any other food. I've always noticed that those ladies who are particular about their bread buy Merita Bread. Maybe that's why more Southern women use it than any other kind. Yes, indeed! Smart buyers buy better bread every time."

Merita IS BETTER BREAD

HARRISON POSITIVE OF NO TAX INCREASE AT PRESENT SESSION

Mississippi Disagrees With Eccles That New Revenues Are Necessary.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(P)—Chairman Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, who speaks with recognized authority of New Deal fiscal policies, asserted today that taxes would not be increased at the present session of congress.

He made the statement in a special press conference, plainly intimating that it answered recent plea by Governor Eccles, of the Federal Reserve Board, for prompt balancing of the federal budget, through heavier taxation if necessary.

"God knows, taxes are high enough," the senator exclaimed, gnawing vigorously on a stump of black cigar.

"All the sentiment in congress is to balance the budget by curtailing expenditures, not by raising taxes."

He described March income tax returns as "kratifying" and hinted that the tax on corporation surpluses, passed by the last congress, might be modified next year.

Preliminary tabulations by the treasury showed that income tax collections for the first 17 days of March totaled $354,948,541, a sharp increase over the same period last year.

Treasury officials, noting that many returns were not included in the tabulation, said there was no reason to change their estimate that the month's total collections would reach $840,000,000—more than double last year's figure.

CAROLINA HOUSE VOTES TEACHERS HIGHER PAY

Senate Passes Measure To Create State Parole, Probation System.

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 18.—(P)—The house of representatives passed a bill for higher teachers' salaries today and sent it to the senate.

Representatives voted 81 to 25 against a motion of Representative Moor, of Colleton, to send the measure back to the ways and means committee with the view of substituting a flat $10 a month raise for the higher increase.

As passed the bill provided $75 a month for the first year, $80 a month for the second year, $85 the third year and $90 a month for the fourth and succeeding years.

When the house adjourned it was in the midst of debate on a proposal to allot a larger share of the gasoline tax to counties.

NORTH CAROLINA SOLONS
NEAR ADJOURNMENT
RALEIGH, N. C., March 18.—(P)—The general assembly took another step toward final adjournment today with enactment of the important revenue machinery bill.

A compromise agreement was reached on the motor vehicle measure. Representatives, who had attempted to reduce the cost of automobile license plates from 40 to 30 cents a hundred pounds of car weight and the minimum charge from $8 to $6, concurred in a senate amendment reducing the cost only to 35 cents a hundredweight and the minimum to $7.

Inveterate Customer Bound Over by Court

The municipal court's star defendant was bound over again to criminal court yesterday.

Mrs. Mattie Murphy, of a Linwood avenue address, was bound over yesterday on charges of passing a fictitious check.

This made the twelfth time since 1925 she has been bound over on similar charges or for cheating and swindling.

SMOKE ELIMINATION DISCUSSED BY WOMEN

Business and Professional Women's Club Hears Abatement Hearings.

Business and professional women of Atlanta took their seats around the banquet tables last night at their bi-monthly public relations dinner with the expressed desire to learn how the city can be rid of smoke and what they can do to help.

Headed by T. A. Day, Cincinnati coal executive, leaders in the national and city smoke abatement movements told various methods by which the amount of smoke in the air can be lessened. All plans advanced were basically the same, calling for educational drives on "How to Fire Fuel."

With these suggestions as a foundation the Atlanta Business and Professional Women's Club of Atlanta will make the smoke abatement program their club project for the year.

Home Owners Offenders.
The small home owners are the greatest offenders," Day declared. "They seem not to realize that if they do not fire their small fires correctly all the fuel will not be burned, gases will escape and smoke will fill the air."

He urged a concentrated movement to disseminate information on the proper means for firing furnaces.

"You fire a candle from the top, not the bottom. So it should be with a furnace. The fire should be banked on one side when coal is added the first time and banked on the other when it is added the second time. The heating system should be thoroughly cleaned at least once during each heating season."

An open forum on smoke abatement work in Atlanta was led by Henry J. Cates, chief of the sanitary department, who declared the greatest phase of the work was educating the people to doing something about their firing methods and teaching the janitors how to properly fire.

Knowledge Urged.
Mrs. Lucy Mims, president of the Atlanta Smoke Abatement League, asked the businesswomen to join their organization in a drive against smoke by obtaining a thorough knowledge of the subject, by distributing literature and by learning what is the correct method of firing.

It is a known fact a smoky, dusty city makes the people more morbid, has more suicides," Dr. C. C. Aven said in the open discussion. "Smoke indirectly affects the lungs and irritates the respiratory system."

Others speaking on the forum were H. A. Millikin, J. N. Voorhees, F. W. Douglas, A. W. Jones and Harold H. Bixler.

Jones pointed out that Atlanta has relatively small amounts of smoke in the air in comparison with other cities of its size. Poor janitor service was blamed as the cause of excess smoke in the city.

Miss Blanche Wood, club president, presided at the dinner and Miss Letta Thompson, chairman of the National Business Women's Week committee of the organization, extended greetings to the guests. Several vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. Martha T. Clark, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Dowman.

I. Glover Hailey, mayor pro tem, made a short speech in behalf of the city council and the mayor.

300 PRINTERS STRIKE
IN INDIANAPOLIS
INDIANAPOLIS, March 18.—(P)—Approximately 300 members of the International Typographical Union, employed on the three Indianapolis newspapers, went on strike tonight, leaving this city of 365,000 without a newspaper.

The Star, Indianapolis' only morning paper, did not publish its first edition, due on the street at 9:30 p. m.

Strikers remained in session tonight after announcing the demands they have made on the publishers for wage increases.

TEXTILE WORKERS GET INCREASE IN SALARIES

60,000 To Benefit in South; C. I. O. Launches Organ- ization Drive.

By the Associated Press.

Nearly 60,000 of the south's 300,000 textile workers today had wage increases averaging 10 per cent and more than 30,000 other workers in New England received pay boosts.

The widespread movement of the industry was met last night by word from labor leaders that the C. I. O. organization plans for the industry would be pushed regardless.

The Charlotte (N. C.) Observer tonight quoted an official of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association, whom it did not name, as saying wage increases for all southern mill workers were in "definite prospect."

Pay roll increases announced by mills in Georgia, the Carolinas and Virginia, led the national movement.

The increases range from as high as 20 per cent in some departments to a four-hour reduction in weekly hours with no pay cut.

Paul Christopher, United Textile Workers' Union organizer at Charlotte, N. C., and Sidney Hillman, who will head the C. O. I. textile campaign, at New York, both said the increase was insufficient to meet demands which labor will present to the industry.

Hillman, commenting on the 10 per cent wage boost in southern mills said, "That is not enough. I am glad the manufacturers have come part of the way, but it is not enough and we shall go on and build from there."

Pacolet Mills, of Gainesville, Ga., which announced an annual $55,000 wage increase affecting approximately 1,000 employees. The Gainesville Cotton Mill in the same city, announced a $45,000 increase for about 700 workers.

Subsidiaries of Pacolet-Chicope Manufacturing Company, of Gainesville, announced a 36-hour week without a pay cut.

Followers of John L. Lewis last night said the campaign for union organization in southern mills would be formalized at a meeting in New York Friday of the recently created textile workers' organization committee.

At Rome, Ga., the Pepperell Manufacturing Company last night also announced a general 10 per cent wage increase for all departments, a move affecting about 2,800 persons, officials said. The boost would place the mill's five per cent higher than in 1929 and make the pay roll the largest in the mill's history.

Wednesday the movement for higher pay was launched by the United Textile Workers' Union, which has 11,000 members, several thousands of whom are in Georgia.

Manufacturers in Spartanburg, S. C., said last night that but one or two of the 40 mills in that vicinity had granted raises affecting approximately 18,000 workers.

The Victor-Monahan chain at Greenville, S. C., with 3,000 employees, the Blue Bell-Globe Overall Company in North Carolina, and Charlotte mills have joined the movement.

C. I. O. FIGHT SEEN IN NEW ENGLAND
BOSTON, March 18.—(P)—New England manufacturers, some of them obviously tense, tonight exhibited mixed feelings toward the opening of tomorrow's trumpeted drive by John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization to unionize the lifelines of their industries.

One of them, president of a shoe company, in effect threw up his hands with a statement that it was useless "to buck labor at this time."

Others, some of them already fighting strikes, asserted they would close down their plants rather than accede to demands labeled as exorbitant.

of the three papers, the Star, News and Times, also met and Bloor Schleppey, secretary of the publishers' association, said he understood the union men would remain in their meeting until after the publishers reach a decision on the demands.

The strike left downtown crowds in Indianapolis with only meager details of the explosion and fire near Tyler, Texas.

PRINTERS ARE ORDERED TO RETURN TO WORK
MIAMI, Fla., March 18.—(UP)—Charles P. Howard, International President of the Typographical Union, said tonight he has sent a telegram to striking printers of three Indianapolis newspapers, ordering them to return to work.

"The strike has not been authorized by the international," Howard said, "and violates contracts which provide for arbitration."

Great Italian's Love Described in Diary

PARIS, March 18.—(P)—Police tonight announced discovery of an intimate diary of Mme. Madeline La Ferriere, brunette beauty held for the shooting of Count Charles de Chambun, describing relations with a "great Italian statesman."

Extracts from the diary, read to newspapermen by Mme. La Ferriere's lawyer in the presence of Investigating Magistrate Le Gizard, told of secret meetings with the "great statesman" in the inner recesses of a famous Roman palace.

One entry, as read by her lawyer, said: "Today he said 'Ethiopia no longer means anything to me; now I only have the sweet memories of this unforgettable hour of love.'"

The extracts which were read showed the love affair reached a climax in July, 1936, and after that she was unsuccessful in seeing the "great statesman."

Count de Chambun, wounded in the thigh as he boarded a train for Brussels yesterday, remained at a private hospital where it was said his condition was not serious.

Mme. La Ferriere was granted several interviews by Premier Benito Mussolini while she was in Italy.

Funeral services for Walter Harris Hawkins, 69, of 450 Angier avenue, N. E., who died Wednesday night at a private hospital, will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the chapel of Avtry & Lowndes, with Dr. W. H. Knight officiating. Burial will be in Greenwood cemetery.

GEORGE L. RYLAND.
Funeral services for George L. Ryland, of 209 Williams street, who died Wednesday night at a local hospital, will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at the chapel of J. Austin Dillon, with Dr. W. H. Knight officiating. Burial will be in Latham cemetery.

G. T. POPE.
G. T. Pope died yesterday at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. J. T. Lowe, of 317 East Oxford avenue, College Park. In addition to his wife, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Will Savor, of Tignall, Ga. Funeral arrangements will be announced by G. Hemperley & Son.

MRS. J. T. DYE.
Mrs. J. T. Dye, 53, of 815 Ponders avenue, died last night at her home. She was a member of the Ponders Avenue Baptist church. She is survived by her husband; five sons, L. A. and J. B. Head and Herbert E. Aubrey and J. T. Dye, Jr., and a brother, F. A. McGinnis, all of Atlanta. Funeral arrangements will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

MRS. ESTHER LEVINE.
Mrs. Esther Levine, 65, of 608 Capitol avenue, S. E., died yesterday at a private hospital. She is survived by sons, Karl and A. I. Levine, both of Atlanta, and a daughter, Miss Rebecca Levine, of New York city. Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the chapel of Sam R. Greenberg, with Rabbi Tobias Gefin officiating. Burial will be in Greenwood cemetery.

ROSWELL MARKER UNVEILING TODAY

Ceremonies To Be Held at Ancestral Home of Bar- rington King.

Unveiling ceremonies at the first marker in the sequentennial beautifying project of Roswell road will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon, under auspices of the James Edward Oglethorpe chapter, Daughters of American Colonists, at the ancestral home of Barrington King, co-founder of Roswell.

George Starr Peck will be principal speaker, and the marker will be unveiled by William Edward Simpson, Jr., a great-grandson of Barrington King, and Samuel Warren Few, descendant of Ignatius Few, founder of Emory University.

Miss Evelyn Simpson, who, with her sisters, Miss Katherine Simpson and Mrs. Frances Simpson Few, now own "Barrington Hall," will accept the marker.

BINGHAM FILES DENIAL OF WIFE'S COMPLAINTS

MIAMI, Fla., March 18.—(P)—Hiram Bingham, former United States senator from Connecticut, filed a general denial today to charges set forth in his wife's bill for divorce.

Bingham, said to be in Washington, conceded his wife, Alfreda Mitchell Bingham, had resided in Florida for the required 90 days and that they were married in 1900, but denied her other statements.

Mrs. Bingham, who brought her suit yesterday, asserted her husband had in years after 1928 "assumed an attitude of superiority" and was "cold and indifferent." They separated, she said, in 1932.

her sisters, Miss Katherine Simpson and Mrs. Frances Simpson Few, now own "Barrington Hall," will accept the marker.

"Camay helps to give me a Radiant Complexion"
SAYS THIS LOVELY NEW YORK BRIDE

BRONXVILLE, N. Y.

No soap suits me like Camay—it's so mild and thorough. I can truthfully say that Camay helps to give me a radiant complexion.

Sincerely,
(Signed) HARRIET HAMILTON MOORE
(Mrs. David Channing Moore)

February 24, 1937

BEAUTIFUL, gracious, serene—young Mrs. David Channing Moore is all of these. Her eyes sparkle with intelligence; her creamy complexion is fresh and natural as her wit. You know she is used to the best things of life, that she wants nothing but the finest—whether it's books, friends or beauty aids. That's why she uses Camay to safeguard her exquisite skin. "Camay is my soap," she says, "it's the only sensible way to keep lovely."

Camay works to help bring you the same radiant complexion possessed by this charming bride. No matter how sensitive your complexion, you'll find Camay's cleansing gentle and soothing. Genile is the word for its fragrant lather—stimulating is its cleansing, as its millions of active little bubbles lift out every trace of dirt and grime. Day by day, you'll see your complexion becoming clearer—you'll feel it becoming smoother.

Camay has been proven definitely milder in test after test against all other leading beauty soaps. And it's this "magic" mildness that makes Camay so indispensable to women who value their complexions.

If you long for a radiant skin, get a supply of Camay today. The price is so low...the reward so great...you'll never go a day without this finest of beauty aids!

'LITTLE NRA MEASURE' IS DECLARED INVALID BY ALABAMA TRIBUNAL

State Supreme Court Upholds Validity of Unemployment Compensation Act.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 18. (AP)—Alabama's supreme court upheld validity of the state's unemployment compensation act today but declared unconstitutional a "little NRA" law which permitted price-fixing for dry cleaning and barbering.

A Bessemer anti-secession ordinance, recently ruled invalid by the court of appeals, was held constitutional by an unanimous decision and the case of Jack Barton, convicted of possessing seditious literature, remanded to the appeals court for further consideration.

A fourth decision of the justices upheld a recent decision of Montgomery circuit court, which declared unconstitutional the Wallace act under which the state recently purchased Cochran bridge across Mobile bay and freed it of tolls.

Capping off one of its largest decision days in months, the supreme court denied a petition for rehearing of its recent decision declaring valid the 1-2 per cent gross receipts tax effective during January and February.

In striking down the "little NRA," passed by the 1935 legislature and affecting cities with populations between 60,000 and 200,000 (Montgomery and Mobile), six justices concurred and Justice Virgil Bouldin dissented.

LABOR RELATIONS ACT UPHOLD BY CIRCUIT COURT

NEW ORLEANS, March 18.—(AP) The national labor relations act, setting up boards to arbitrate worker-employer problems, was upheld here today by the fifth circuit court of appeals.

The judicial score in various of the 10 circuit courts, which rank next to the supreme court in power, is now four decisions for the government and three against it.

The supreme court, now facing reorganization under President Roosevelt's plan, has not yet ruled on the question but may hand down a final decision on March 29.

Today's circuit court opinion was given in the case of the El Paso Electric Company, charged by Edwin A. Elliott, regional director of the National Labor Relations Board for the 16th district, with committing unfair labor practices affecting interstate commerce.

May-December Romance Terminates in Prison

GLOUCESTER, Mass., March 18.—(AP)—The May-December romance of Burton Tucker, who eloped 14 years ago with Olive Burnham Simpson when he was 14 and she was 45, came to a halt today with Tucker's arrest on an abandonment charge.

Tucker spent the night in police headquarters, here, Police Chief Louis Boutchic, of near-by Essex, said, on a New York warrant charging desertion of Mrs. Tucker and their three children. Missing since December, he was taken into custody at his home late yesterday.

It was in an Essex drug store he and his wife first met a few days before their elopement. Tucker insisted it was love match, but his parents charged he had been "kidnaped" and "dazzled by his wife's wealth," they sought unsuccessfully to annul the marriage.

'Congratulations, Pat'—'Same to you, Doc!'

Two newly elected exalted rulers in one Elks lodge—the Atlanta Lodge, No. 78—are shown above as they congratulated each other last night at the Elks Home following the annual election. They are I. S. Moss (left), and Dr. I. H. Etheridge. The situation of having two exalted rulers grew out of the compliment paid Mr. Moss for his loyal service by Exalted Ruler Frank M. Robertson, who resigned a week ago to allow Mr. Moss to serve a week as head of the lodge before Dr. Etheridge, elected last night, takes office.

CANCER CLINIC BILL URGED FOR PASSAGE

Physicians, Women Back New Legislation Before Georgia House Today.

An important step in the 17 years of work by the State Cancer Commission may be gained if the cancer control bill, tagged as house bill No. 78, gains passage in the state house today.

Dr. J. L. Campbell, chairman of the cancer commission, declared last night passage of the bill by the house was expected and "the greatest good to the people of Georgia will be done by the final carrying out of the provisions of the bill."

The cancer control bill provides for the establishment of state-operated cancer clinics in various parts of Georgia. The clinics are to be operated under supervision of the State Department of Health.

The bill has received the backing of the Medical Association of Georgia and of the Georgia woman's field army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer. Dr. Campbell last

Girl, 17, and Boy, 16, Married in Florida

BARTOW, Fla., March 18.—(AP) A 17-year-old boy and a 16-year-old girl, whose homes are in Riverside, Conn., were married here today by County Judge Wiggins, after his office had issued them a marriage license.

The bride gave her name as Jane Marie Marshall and the bridegroom as George Howard Chamberlain.

Since Florida law requires the consent of parents or guardians for under-age applicants for marriage licenses, Judge Wiggins said he issued the license on the consent of young Chamberlain's aunt, Miss Josephine G. Stouten, of Lakeland, whom he was visiting.

Consent of the Marshall girl's parents came in a telegram to him from Connecticut, Judge Wiggins said.

night highly praised the energetic work done by the woman's field army of the state and declared it had done much to bring to the front the need of more widespread cancer clinics over the state.

Mrs. H. B. Ritchie, of Athens, is state commander of the field army, and J. S. Kennedy, of the Citizens & Southern Bank, is state treasurer.

ETHERIDGE ELECTED ELKS' EXALTED RULER

I. S. Moss Honored; Class of 50 To Be Initiated Into Lodge.

Dr. I. H. Etheridge, prominent Atlanta physician, was unanimously elected exalted ruler of Atlanta Lodge, No. 78, B. P. O. E., last night at the Elks Home, 736 Peachtree street.

Complimenting the long and loyal service of I. S. (Pat) Moss, Frank M. Robertson, exalted ruler for two years, resigned a week ago to allow Moss to hold the office. He was unanimously elected to the post last week and will be installed Thursday night. He will serve as exalted ruler one week, until Dr. Etheridge assumes office.

A large number of members attended the annual election meeting last night and several spirited contests were staged in the balloting. Other officers elected for the coming year were:

Esteemed leading knight, A. B. Madison. Esteemed loyal knight, Frank R. Flinn. Esteemed lecturing knight, Dr. S. A. Ferilla.

Secretary, J. Clayton Burke. Treasurer, J. L. Killebrew. Tiler, Joseph P. McMahon. Trustee, five years, George B. Hamilton.

Alternate representative to Grand Lodge, Edward F. Bond. All officers will be installed Thursday night, April 1.

Dr. Etheridge has been active in Elksdom for the past three years, earning the highest post in the lodge by filling all the various stations leading up to exalted ruler.

Burke has served as secretary for the past six years. A class of about 50 new members, known as the grand exalted ruler's class, in honor of former Governor Dave Sholtz, of Florida, will be initiated into the lodge. Sholtz is the chief officer of the Elks.

An Easter dance, honoring Mr. Moss, will be held at the Elks home Saturday night, March 27.

PROJECT THREAT CUTS VALUES, EXPERT SAYS

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 18.—(UP)—In the Santee-Cooper power project case this afternoon, George H. Knutsen, public utilities consultant, of New York, testified the "market value" of the utilities affected would be "depressed" by the threat of construction of the project.

Three privately owned utilities are seeking a permanent injunction against construction of the PWA's $37,500,000 power and navigation project.

Government Counsel John W. Scott asked Knutsen if he expressed opinion was not based on general knowledge rather than direct examination. Knutsen replied he did not make a direct examination of the physical "properties," and added it was not "necessary" to do so to conclude that the "market value" would be depressed. Judge J. Lyles Glenn ruled the testimony had a "guarantee of truth" behind it.

Ancient people had mirrors of polished metal, but glass mirrors were not produced until the eleventh century.

PRESIDENT DEDICATES LITTLE NEGRO SCHOOL NEAR WARM SPRINGS

F. D. R. Lauds Rivers' Program and Tells of Origin Philosophies.

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., March 18.—(AP)—In a little brick schoolhouse he dedicated for negro children, President Roosevelt today expounded his philosophy of "thinking in national terms," asserted the country was "better off" as a result, and added economic and educational standards must be raised to higher levels.

The one-story school, resting on a red clay hill at the end of a muddy lane leading from a dirt village highway, was named the "Eleanor Roosevelt" school after the first lady. It was constructed with federal money and donations from the Julius Rosenwald fund, and was the 5,358th of its kind in the south.

The President sat throughout the hour-long ceremony in front of a platform crowded with state and local educational leaders.

But he seemed to enjoy every minute, especially the negro spirituals sung by a male glee club from the Fort Valley Normal and Industrial school, and the hymns and recitations.

The Beer That Made Milwaukee Famous

Memorized Tribute Flows Too Rapidly

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., March 18.—(AP)—Little Willie Jackson, eight-year-old negro pupil, stood in his Sunday best at his school dedication exercises here today and recited a tribute to the President of the United States.

Willie had his piece memorized to perfection, but his determination to get it over with resulted in such a race of words that even his teacher could not distinguish one from the other.

He got a big hand, however, the leader of the demonstration being none other than the dedicatory speaker—President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

That rang sharply through the little room from the wide-open mouths of 60 negro boys and girls of assorted sizes.

Speaking extemporaneously, the chief executive said: "We've got to raise our economic standards a good deal higher. I would like to see the teachers' pay in this state approximate more nearly that of New York state."

"I would like to see the program of Governor Rivers go through. He wants to spend twice as much on education this year and guarantee a seven-month school year. That is a great ambition and I would like to see him put it through."

"There is need of raising economic standards and thereby raising the educational standards of the state." Recalling a remark he heard years ago that "we got a lot of book knowledge, but we ain't got no mother knowledge," the President said, "as far as education goes we've got a long way to go."

The President, comparing present conditions in Warm Springs and Meriwether county with pre-depression and five-cent cotton days, said: "Why, we are infinitely better off and we all know it. That is because we have been thinking in national terms."

Grounding in Economics. Going back to the first years of his visits here, the President said he "began to learn economics at Warm Springs."

He told of a 19-year-old boy coming to him in 1924 and asking him to present diplomas at his school. He was surprised to learn the youth was principal of the school rather than president of his class, and was only getting $300 a year, with teachers under him receiving less.

He also related how a bank in Warm Springs, then a store, closed their doors, and recalled 70 cents a day common labor wages, all of which made him realize the community lacked purchasing power. One reason was five-cent cotton, he said.

Here was one large part of the nation "at the mercy of people outside the south under conditions over which they had no control." He added, people were starving under five-cent cotton and the young were growing up without an education.

Origin of Philosophy. It was then, he continued, he began to evolve the economic philosophy of raising pay, prices, and purchasing power, and of tying that in "very definitely" with the "industrial cities of the north and east."

"We began to think of the picture as a national picture," he said, adding one aim was to stabilize wages on a higher level.

Edwin R. Embree, president of the Julius Rosenwald fund, in turning over the school to the community, said: "We are seeing democracy here at its best."

Accepting the school on behalf of the state, Robert L. Cousins, director of negro education, said Georgia was becoming "more conscious" of its obligations to educate all citizens, in contrast to the day back in 1865 when a state law was passed making it a crime to teach a negro to read or write.

The President drove to the school with William O. Bullitt, ambassador to France; his daughter-in-law, Mrs. James C. Roosevelt Jr., and Miss Marguerite Lehman, a secretary. Ten other cars trailed him.

Bullitt, who has been here a week talking over European conditions with Mr. Roosevelt, left tonight for Washington. He is sailing from New York March 24 to Paris.

Prior to the colorful dedication, the President sat down in a rustic CCC camp mess hall to a Georgia barbecue dinner of pork stew and fried chicken, given in his honor by Dr. and Mrs. Neal Kitchens, of Warm Springs.

There were about 35 guests seated at a long green-painted pine table that almost toppled over every time someone got up to speak.

Before the President and several other guests were placed cards of magnolia leaves inscribed in Latin.

SPARTA, Ga., March 18.—(AP)—Mrs. James H. Boyer, 83, died at her home in Hancock county yesterday, just three days after death of her husband. She was prominent in church and social activities of her community.

Surviving are two sons, James and Woodfin Boyer; three daughters, Mrs. G. L. Brown, of Sparta; Mrs. Joe Mulrow, of Milledgeville, and Miss Nona Blanche Boyer, of this county, and other relatives.

Funeral services were held today at Zebulon church.

B. H. POUND.—Funeral services for B. H. Pound, well-known Hancock farmer, were held yesterday afternoon at Reynolds Chapel cemetery. Mr. Pound died Tuesday night after a stroke of paralysis.

Rev. A. C. Hind, pastor, conducted the services.

Mr. Pound is survived by one daughter.

MRS. P. M. KENNERLY.—LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., March 18.—Mrs. P. M. Kennerly, 82, died in a local hospital Wednesday night.

Surviving are her husband, P. M. Kennerly; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Garner, of Luxonmi; three sisters, Mrs. Ester Pounds, of Redan; Mrs. Hattie Duncan, of Decatur; Mrs. Letta Kennerly, of Luxonmi; and four brothers, Jabe Z. Garner, of Decatur, and S. M., H. B. and C. D. Garner, of Luxonmi. Funeral services will be held at the Baptist church at Luxonmi tomorrow afternoon, with burial in the churchyard.

DANIEL O. PHILLIPS.—GREENVILLE, Ga., March 18.—(AP)—Daniel O. Phillips, 61, Meriwether county commissioner and well-known citizen of this section, died at his residence here this morning. He was a supply merchant and farmer.

Surviving are his wife, two daughters, two sisters and a brother. Funeral services are expected to be held Friday.

MRS. HOWARD T. ARNEY.—ATHENS, Ga., March 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Howard T. Arney, well-known Athens woman, died at her home here this morning after a short illness. Funeral services will be Friday morning at 11 o'clock.

Surviving are her husband, a daughter, Jane; son, Morton; six sisters, Mrs. J. M. Kenyon, of Richland, Ga.; Mrs. R. F. Morton, of Athens; Mrs. Lulu Matthews, of Atlanta; Mrs. T. C. Kendrick, of Columbus, and Miss Gussie Morton and Miss Florence Morton, both of Lumpkin, Ga., and one brother, Jesse Morton, of Lumpkin.

MRS. R. C. WILSON.—SPARTA, Ga., March 18.—Mrs. R. C. Wilson, 82, died at her home near here this morning. She was one of Hancock's best-known women. She had taught in the school system 45 years and was known to hundreds of pupils as "Miss Carrie." She was one of the oldest graduates of Wesleyan College and a charter member of Adelphi society. She was a lifelong member of the Methodist church. She was granddaughter of the late Bishop George F. Pierce.

Surviving are her husband; two sons, Dr. Robert Wilson, of Athens, and George P. Wilson, of Columbus, O.; one daughter, Mrs. Florence Bell; five grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

Atlanta Child Hooks 18-Pound Gulf Fish

"See what I caught!" says little Miss Marion Gardner, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Gardner, Cambellton road. Marion proudly displays the 18-pound fish she caught last week on Pine island, Gulf of Mexico. Hooking the fish on her own line, the tiny fisherman held on until her amazed parents reached her side. Two hours were spent in making the landing, the father said.

"Palman qui meruit ferat," meaning roughly, "Let him who merits the palm bear it." At the top of the President's card was the word, "Courage."

The President described the card as "very nice" and added: "You all get it, don't you?"

Need for New Road. Dr. Kitchens said a great need was a new road to prevent the children going to the new school from having to wade a creek, and also to permit three old negro women to go to and from work.

"I might get my washing done," the President remarked amid laughter. W. L. Miller, chairman of the State Highway Commission, was applauded when he promised to build the road "with one proviso—that the President comes down here two years from now and votes for us."

Returning to his Pine mountain cottage, the President stopped at the Sara Delano Roosevelt country hall, another federal-aid project, and received a bouquet of appreciation for the structure named after his mother.

"I hope my mother can get down here next November," he said. "I want her to see this."

PRESIDENT INVITED TO EATONTON SECTION TO EATONTON, Ga., March 18.—(AP) City officials had civic clubs here invited President Roosevelt to visit the plantation Piedmont and other federal projects in this section.

CONVENTION IS ENDED BY UNIVERSITY WOMEN

Dr. Mary R. Beard Addresses Closing Session; Officers Are Elected.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 18.—(AP) Dr. Mary R. Beard, author of New Milford, Conn., declared tonight the challenge before university women today is to realize the "swiftly crystallizing struggle between a ruthless capitalist democracy and a socializing democracy marching under a banner of humanism."

Dr. Beard spoke at the closing session of the American Association of University Women's tenth biennial convention.

"Less than 2 centuries ago the battle for power between two antagonistic systems of thought crystallized in an American social war," she said. "In our day the struggle for power promises to crystallize in another equally fateful conflict."

She said the decision whether this conflict will be war or a battle of reason, or whether it will go unswayed is largely up to women.

Dr. Beard said women of the twentieth century are getting their education through the conception men have laid down for them.

"About all they know of themselves is what the preachers and the lawyers say they are," she said.

Feminism Out of Date. Mrs. Chase G. Woodhouse, of New London, Conn., director of the Institute of Women's Professional Relations, said tonight that "feminism is out of date," in contesting Mrs. Beard's viewpoint.

"We are rapidly getting to a state where women are not merely women but people," she said.

University women must sponsor the idea of men and women being co-operative workers in the human family, Mrs. Woodhouse declared.

Mrs. Hettie Shores, of Washington, member of the Institute of Women's Professional Relations, said earlier in the day, in addressing the convention, that manufacturers are placing too much emphasis on production.

"More attention must be given the problem of consumption," she said. "Some manufacturers are recognizing this."

She said the consumer problem is drawing women into governmental executive positions and manner of thought.

"Women are wage spenders and therefore have equal responsibility for government with men."

Dr. Margaret S. Morrison, dean of Pembroke College at Brown University, Providence, R. I., also addressed the day session.

Legislative Program. The convention today adopted a program recommended by the legislative committee, headed by Dr. Edna White, of Washington, to increase the association's interest in legislative affairs. It adopted a report from the membership committee, headed by Dr. Katharine Rogers Adams, of Albany, N. Y., designed to raise standards of teachers' colleges and remove some of them from the category of "teacher factories."

Officers Elected. The association today elected Dr. Margaret S. Morrison, of Providence, R. I., president. She is dean of Pembroke College at Brown University.

Other officers elected are: Dr. Louise Pound, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, vice president; Dr. Elizabeth Jackson, Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Ga., director of the south Atlantic section; Dr. Irma E. Voight, Ohio University, Athens, director, northeast central section; Miss Margaret Enos, Jackson, Miss., director, southeast central section; Mrs. Agnes Wood Garney, Greeley, Colo., director, Rocky mountain section; Mrs. Clara S. Painter, director, northwest central section.

Mrs. Gertrude Cooper, of Portland, Ore., headed the nominating committee which presented the ticket at today's convention of the association.

STATE BAPTIST W. M. U. ELECTS MRS. BURNEY

ROME, Ga., March 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Frank Burney, of Waynesboro, was elected president of the Georgia Baptist Women's Missionary Union at the final session of a three-day convention here today.

Mrs. Burney succeeds Mrs. Ben S. Thompson, of Madison, who has headed the organization for the maximum of five years.

Augusta was chosen as the 1938 convention site.

All other officers, including Mrs. L. O. Freeman, College Park, vice president; Mrs. George Westmoreland, Atlanta, vice president emerita, and divisional vice presidents were re-elected.

Mr. Roosevelt at the Erwin home tomorrow afternoon from 4:40 until 5:30 o'clock, to which all members of the Victory dinner committees both in Athens and other communities are invited.

The dinner will begin at 8 o'clock.

LINDSAY PLEDGES AID IN SENATE ENACTMENT OF CITY REVENUE BILL

Gloria Haley Says Council
Does Not Plan Change
In City Limits.

Senator Paul L. Lindsay, of DeKalb, announced last night he will aid in pushing to rapid passage the city's omnibus revenue-raising bill which lacks only the third reading in the senate for final action. The bill may come up for vote today.

Senator Lindsay, following assurances from Mayor Pro Tem, I. Gloria Haley that no effort will be made by city council to change the city limits of Atlanta, said he conferred with Senator G. Everett Millican, of Atlanta, and Senator Peebles, chairman of the municipal government committee of the senate, and assured them of his cooperation.

The DeKalb senator had opposed the bill but declared he was withdrawing opposition on being assured the change in the sanitary tax rate will not be more than a dollar increase for residence lots, that the water rate will be increased only about 15 to 30 cents per month to the average user, and that removal of the business license limitation will not be abused.

Council Felled.
Haley yesterday polled council to deny reports city officials were considering introduction of a bill asking the legislature to change the city limits on the DeKalb side to conform with the Fulton county limits on the east side.

The mayor pro tem. also told Lindsay he would ask the board of fire-wardens to recommend to city council that the city allow Druid Hills residents use of city water in case of fire.

Senator Lindsay said he had a conference with W. Zode Smith, head of the water department, and had been assured city water will be made available to Druid Hills for emergency use until other arrangements are worked out by Druid Hills residents.

Haley Statement.

Haley issued the following statement:

"As presiding officer of the general council of the city of Atlanta, and acting mayor in the absence of Mayor Hartsfield, I deplore the fact that some one has seen fit to leave the impression that the members of general council would countenance a movement to change the city limits in a manner which would leave Atlanta that valuable section lying in DeKalb county," he said.

"I can readily understand the position taken by Senator Lindsay, upon hearing such a rumor, and knowing him as I do to be a man of great determination and integrity, I have made a personal contact of each individual member of general council and wish to assure him, and our mutual constituency, Atlanta citizens residing in DeKalb county, that I bespeak the unanimous sentiment of the members of general council of the city of Atlanta, as well as the sentiment of Senator Millican and Mayor Hartsfield, that should any one attempt in any way to present to the general assembly a paper whose purpose would be to divorce from the city of Atlanta that part of our city lying in DeKalb county, and recognized by us as an integral part of Atlanta, such movement would meet with our active and determined opposition."

Hartsfield Concluded.
Mayor Hartsfield was out of the city yesterday but had already written Senator Lindsay no effort will be made to change the city boundaries.

"I don't like the idea of four increases in taxation without a referendum, but after investigation I find the situation in Atlanta is such that additional revenue is necessary," Lindsay said. "I am acting for the mass of the people in voting for this revenue-raising bill."

The senator said the bill probably will be ready for the final vote in the senate today but, due to the rush of senate business, it may not come up until Monday.

With the difficulties withdrawn, the bill is assured of passage when it reaches the floor of the senate.

Lightweight Worsteds Ideal for Late Spring

THE 3-PIECE TROPICAL WORSTED SUIT
Here is a single-breasted lightweight suit, in cloth weighing about 9 ounces to the yard.

Three-Piece Garment, in Suitings of Intermediate Weight, Serves Ideally as Transitional Garment—Patterns Like Those of Spring.

By ROBERT FAIRCHILD,
Editor, Men's Fashions.

Intermediate between the strictly summer suit, and the fall and winter weights, comes the three-piece (coat, vest, trousers) suit of lightweight worsteds, which is the perfect weight for spring and early summer. Fabrics in these suits are approximately 8 1/2 to 10 ounces to the yard—just how definitely intermediate this may be seen when it is recalled that the average winter suiting weighs about 14 to 15 ounces to the yard, and the lightest of summer suitings, such as seersucker, about 6 1/2 ounces.

These spring lightweight worsteds are light enough to be cool, yet with sufficient body to hold their shape, tailor properly, and wear satisfactorily. Because of their transitional character, they are preferred in patterns resembling those of regular weight spring suits.

Glenurquhart Are Strong.

These include overlaid, which are very strong, the Glenurquhart variety being perhaps more popular this season with well-dressed men than it has been for many years. Their resurgence is due chiefly to the success of cloth designers in sprucing them up with color and variety.

Stripes, too, are well liked in this lightweight suit. The two-color, three-color and other combinations of stripes are in good favor. A sort of first cousin to the stripes is the silk nubbed effect, in which the solid-color ground is brightened up with flecks and nubs of a bright-colored silk woven into the worsted.

The tendency is naturally to the lighter side in the basic tone of the suit, in view of the approach of summer. Medium to light shades prevail.

Conservative Taste Likes Darker Tones.

Some men, however, are of the unshakable opinion that a tropical worsted suit (which is the basic category in which these three-piece garments fall)—should be similar to a regular spring suit in every way except weight, and these more conservative tastes prefer the darker shades, such as navy blue, oxford gray and subdued browns. Brahmins, however, is rejected by every shade of taste among well-dressed men. The day of gloomy, clerical-like "restraint" in men's suitings seems to be definitely past.

Models in the three-piece tropicals are pretty much the same as for spring. Perhaps single-breasted and a shade more popular than d.b.s., because many men think they are cooler. But the moderate drape, the tapered sleeve, the lower waistline and slightly broader lapels, together with the high-waisted trousers, are outstanding, just as in spring suits.

'Will-to-Die' Woman Cries Bitterly When Aroused From 7-Day Coma

LOS ANGELES, March 18.—(AP)—Weeping bitterly as she awoke, Helen Willis Love cried out today from the unconsciousness of a week-long "horror coma."

The convicted slayer was revived by a psychiatrist more than 158 hours after she lapsed into a subconscious coma brought on, doctors said, because her conscious mind could not "digest" the horror of her recent experiences.

Last Tuesday Mrs. Love, a plump, 31-year-old brunette, was convicted of the second-degree murder of Harry Love, a well-to-do broker whom she said had secretly married her. Thursday night she became unconscious. She thought today was last Friday when she regained consciousness. In explanation, Dr. Samuel Marcus, the psychiatrist, told officials the tragedy was too great for her conscious mind to bear.

She wept bitterly when she awoke. Shortly before noon today, Dr. Marcus and Dr. Benjamin Blank, county jail physician, came to her bedside in the jail hospital as they have done daily for a week.

The woman, inert and barely breathing, was gray-yellow against the white of the pillow. Her only words were "I don't know" and "I don't know" repeated over and over.

Dr. Marcus bent low over her. His lips were touching her ears. He began to whisper, stroking her cheek with his hand.

Her jaw sagged, and her tongue flickered up and down from the roof of her mouth as though she were trying to speak.

He whispered more rapidly. What he said could not be heard.

Mrs. Love's body quivered, then grew rigid, straining into the effort of motion. Suddenly, the psychiatrist, a small, dapper man, looked up at Dr. Blank who was recording her pulse.

"Within one minute, Helen is going to awaken," he said.

Exactly 52 seconds later, her eyes rolled downward. She began staring, wide-eyed, unblinkingly, across the room.

Then she burst into tears.

As soon as she recovers her strength, she will be sentenced to prison for a period ranging from seven years to life.

CHURCH MERGER SEEN BY RECENT SURVEY

CHICAGO, March 18.—(AP)—An official survey showed today that the northern branch of the Methodist Episcopal church virtually was certain to approve the proposed merger of the three divisions of Methodism. The Methodist Episcopal Church (North), the Methodist Episcopal Church (South) and the Methodist Protestant Church.

In the northern division 80 of the 86 general conferences had voted on the proposal as of March 1. The survey revealed 7,734 ministers in these conferences had approved the merger. Only 380 more votes were needed.

The southern branch of the church recently took steps to hasten the decision on merging. The college of bishops voted to refer the proposal immediately to the annual conference, the first of which will be the Florida conference in June.

DISAPPEARS AT SEA.

NORFOLK, Va., March 18.—(AP)—Captain Raymond Amerault, master of the Gloucester, Mass., trawler Francis S. Doherty, reported to Norfolk police today that Alfred Muse, second engineer, was believed to have leaped or fallen overboard from the ship's deck.

POPULISTS COMMUNISM IN STERN ENCYCLOPICAL

Sees No Room for Idea of God in Red Doctrine or Hope of Future Life.

VATICAN CITY, March 18.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI, condemning "Atheistic Communism" as a false doctrine undermining the "very foundations of society," appealed today to "all those who believe in God to resist the furious attacks of the Godless."

The pontiff, in a lengthy encyclical entitled "Divine Medemortis," decried Communist logic and implored the world to resist its spread by a return to the concepts of the church and by meeting "the great duties imposed by justice."

He urged that all differences be submerged so that the world's forces, Catholic and non-Catholic, church and state, might be arrayed to defend its institutions.

Acknowledging that Communism's active of rights for labor and the very real abuses of the economic order are "entirely and undoubtedly legitimate," the Pope pleaded for the employers of labor to stand behind the church in seeing justice done.

No Alms for Wage Earner.

"The wage earner," he said, "is not to receive as alms what is his due in justice. Let no one attempt with trifling charitable donations to exempt himself from the great duties imposed by justice."

The Pope assailed the theoreticians of Communism as inimical to mankind and declared "the bitter fruits of subversive ideas which we foresee and foretell, are multiplying."

"According to this doctrine," he declared, "there is in the world only one reality, matter, prime forces which evolve into plant, animal and man."

"Even human society is nothing but phenomena and a form of matter evolving in the same way. By the law of inertia, it is necessary and through perpetual conflict of forces, matter moves toward the final synthesis of classless society."

No Room for God in Doctrine.

"In such a doctrine, as is evident, there is no room for the idea of God; there is no difference between matter and spirit, between soul and body; there is neither the survival of the soul after death nor any hope of a future life."

"Thus, man's liberty is destroyed. Every right of the human person is denied. Man becomes, as it were, a mere cog in the collectivist machinery which alone has unlimited control over the lives of men. All hierarchy of authority is nullified."

In the front line of the battle against Communism, he said, should stand priests supported by religious groups and the states.

"This means that diligence should be exercised by states to prevent within their territory ravages of the anti-God campaign which shakes society to the very foundation," he said.

"For there can be no authority on earth unless the authority of divine majesty be recognized; no oath will bind which is sworn in the name of a living God."

$45,000 DEBT PAYMENT PLANNED BY BAPTISTS

Surplus From Six Months Receipts To Be Used by Mission Board.

A surplus of $45,000, accumulated from increased receipts the past six months, will be applied by the Baptist Home Mission Board on the principal of its debts the first of April, according to an announcement today by Dr. J. B. Lawrence, executive secretary-treasurer.

The amount now available, which will meet the first of two regular semi-annual debt payments this year, is considerably larger than the amount paid by the board on its debts last April, Dr. Lawrence stated.

By agreement with its creditors, the Baptist agency applies surplus funds twice each year, April 1 and October 1.

Since the April payment each year is always less than the surplus available in October, and because increased receipts will enable the board to make a greater reduction than was made last year when over $100,000 was paid on debts, the mission executive expects total payments on debts this year to be well over $100,000.

"Offerings received this month, with two weeks remaining, have already exceeded total receipts for last March," Dr. Lawrence said. January and February totals were above the same months of last year also.

WALLY ALMOST SURE TO GET APRIL DECREE

No Attempt To Delay Final Divorce Looms in London.

LONDON, March 18.—(AP)—England's ponderous divorce machinery seemingly moved a step nearer to giving Wally Simpson his freedom today as it was learned that the King's proctor, powerful behind-the-scenes figure in the drama which shook the world, actively entered the case with an unexpected petition—but one which legal authorities said boded well for Mrs. Simpson's chances of winning an absolute divorce decree April 27.

The proctor, Sir Thomas Barnes, is to appear at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow (4:30 p. m. Atlanta time) before Sir Boyd Merriam, president of the divorce court, for "directions."

Their discussion will be in chambers, the public excluded.

Legal authorities said they considered the petition for instructions as the proctor's next to last step before finalizing the divorce.

Obtained at Ipswich on October 27, 1936, to become final. It is his right to determine whether the final decree shall be granted.

(The proctor is charged with supervising conduct of parties to a divorce action in English courts during the six months period between the pronouncement and final decrees, and to determine whether there is any evidence of collusion or misbehavior.)

(Edward had left Simpson in America since he left England in December, but a recent report indicated he planned to go soon to France to meet Mrs. Simpson, who is now at Monte.)

CANE SUGAR GROUP ASKS LARGER QUOTA

Southern Producers Seek Doubling of Tonnage by Cuban Cut.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(AP)—Continental sugar cane interests demanded of congress today revisions in the administration's proposed sugar bill to permit them to place their full production on the American market.

Led by Louisiana and Florida congressmen the southern interests told a house agriculture subcommittee the bill, by restricting continental cane production, discriminated in favor of the sugar beet states and off-shore producers.

They suggested cane areas in the United States could be given adequate quotas, almost twice the 360,000 tons allowed under the bill, by slashing the Cuban quota of 1,948,091 tons.

Half-dozen witnesses hammered at the committee records showing beet states produced less than their quota while continental cane areas produced more than their quota, but were unable to market the excess unless consumption requirements increased.

RURAL ELECTRIC COST PASSES $50,000,000

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(AP)—Rural electrification administration allotments for power projects passed the $50,000,000 mark today.

Administrator John M. Carmody said the funds will provide electric current for 175,000 customers in 42 states. He said about 50,000 miles of rural lines are included in the 270 projects.

NEGRO, 23, IS HANGED FOR ROBBERY, ASSAULT

PASCAGOULA, Miss., March 18.—(AP)—Samuel Williams, 23-year-old negro of Brewton, convicted of robbery with firearms, was hanged here today.

He was believed to be the first execution under Mississippi's four-year-old statute making the charge a capital offense.

Officials said Williams, who went to his death several hours before the announced execution time, made no statement here he was hanged.

The negro was charged with robbing five Pascagoula homes on the night of August 16, 1936, and assaulting a 79-year-old white woman whom he robbed.

1,786 PERSONS KILLED AT GRADE CROSSINGS

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(AP)—Grade crossing accidents cost 106 more lives over the country during 1936 than during 1935.

The Interstate Commerce Commission reported today 1,786 persons were killed in such accidents last year compared with 1,680 the previous year. Injured for the two years were 4,390 and 4,635, respectively.

The report said 609 railway employees lost their lives in railroad accidents last year. Railroad accidents of all classifications cost 5,398 lives, the commission reported.

This Little Atlanta Girl Has Five Grandmas

Juanita Stephens, 7, of 774 Edgewood avenue, is one of Atlanta's luckiest children, for she has five living grandmothers. She is shown with her mother, Mrs. G. P. Sparks. She has another grandmother, Mrs. W. P. Stephens, of Gastonia, N. C., her daddy's mother and three living great-grandmothers.

5 GRANDMOTHERS BOASTED BY GIRL

Atlanta Child Has Prospect of Living to Ripe Age.

Juanita Stephens, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Stephens, of 774 Edgewood avenue, has every prospect of living to a grand old age. For today she boasts of possessing five living grandmothers, a record which indicates longevity is a steady characteristic of the Stephens family tree.

Starting with the oldest of these remarkable progenitors, there is Mrs. W. N. Stephens, of Toccoa, 81, one of three great-grandmothers Juanita can go visiting whenever she feels inclined. Mrs. W. N. Stephens is a great-grandmother, for she is the mother of Juanita's daddy's father. Her daddy's grandmother, in fact.

Then there is Mrs. W. P. Stephens, 58, who lives in Gastonia, N. C. She is daddy's mother and Juanita's grandmother. And, for another grandmother there is Mrs. G. P. Sparks, 62, who lives right in the same house with Juanita. She is Mrs. Stephens' mother.

Two more great-grandmothers live, one in Atlanta and one in Anderson, S. C. Mrs. M. J. Hays, 78, of 48 Krog street, is the mother of Mrs. Sparks, while Mrs. W. P. Compton, 72, of Anderson, is the mother of Mrs. W. P. Stephens.

NASHVILLE NEGRO IS ELECTROCUTED

Youth Was Convicted of Pie Wagon Holdup Slaying.

STATE PENITENTIARY, NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 18.—(UP)—Tom Franklin, 20-year-old Nashville negro who staged a pie-wagon holdup last summer on a "dare," died in the electric chair at dawn today.

Franklin revealed that he had attempted to cheat the chair Tuesday night by committing suicide, but lost his nerve.

Frank Haynie, negro, was shot to death by a guard after he killed another guard in a death-row break. He and Franklin were to have been executed today.

Franklin, who said he had smuggled a razor blade into his cell, rolled up a sleeve of his khaki shirt and displayed three gashes in his left arm.

Franklin and Haynie were convicted of killing James Scott, a soft-drink salesman, during a lunch wagon hold-up in East Nashville. Franklin declared the last he was not guilty of murder.

DIKSTRA APPOINTED PRESIDENT OF SCHOOL

MADISON, Wis., March 18.—(AP)—University of Wisconsin regents appointed Clarence Addison Dykstra president of the institution today after they had displayed some of the friction that cropped out of the dismissal of his predecessor.

Under a one-year contract, the 54-year-old Cincinnati city manager and former university professor will take office July 1, succeeding Dr. Glenn Sparks, whose 11-year tenure ended in his ouster on charges of administrative inefficiency. Dykstra will receive $15,000 a year and certain expenses.

NEUTRALITY MEASURE IS RUSHED TO PASSAGE IN HOUSE, 374 TO 12

All Opposition to Revise McReynolds' Bill Is Crushed by Democrats.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(P)—The House today passed the neutrality bill to passage today over every opposition attempt to tighten it. The vote was 374 to 12.

Time after time, Republican and some Democratic members made rigid a provision granting wide discretion to the President to set up a cash-and-carry system for handling war material shipments to nations at war.

Just as often, the proposals were crushed beneath the weight of the Democratic majority.

The bill would: Retain present legal prohibitions against loans, credits and shipments of arms and ammunition to warring countries.

Apply these restrictions to civil wars which threaten to endanger American neutrality.

Grant the President discretionary authority to forbid American ships to carry materials useful in war to belligerents and to put such materials on a cash-and-carry basis, requiring foreign nations to transport them in foreign ships.

Prohibit travel by American nationals on belligerent vessels, with any exceptions the President might see fit to make.

Backers of the legislation made but one important concession on the cash-and-carry provisions—an amendment limiting their operation to two years.

That action removed some of the house opposition and paved the way to a compromise in conference with the senate. The bill itself was in the form of a substitute for the Pittman neutrality bill that passed the senate.

parents at the Stewart avenue home while his wife of five months is at the home of her aunt on Virginia avenue, Hapeville. The separation is only temporary, they say, and is simply a matter of convenience for the time being.

The two little girls were friends before they married. They made the yard of the Stewart avenue home their playground and it was here the four finally decided to run away and get married, became friends and, eventually, lovers.

Mrs. Snell, the elder, said yesterday that she had been "fearfully shocked" when her two children came home on October 1 last and told her they were both married. They are her only children and she thought this "made it harder."

The ceremony was performed in Atlanta, they said, and afterwards the four of them rode to Marietta and back for their honeymoon. Then they went home to face their parents.

After the first shock wore over, the older ones decided to make the best of the situation. Their daughter's husband, Thomas Cockran, is a steady worker and they made room for him and his child, their daughter, in their home.

As stated the 18-year-old bridegroom, their son, is not living with his bride but is still at home. They think, however, this couple too will before long assume the accepted relationship of man and wife.

All of them, yesterday, said the double marriage ceremony culminated two love matches, begun while the four young people played together last summer.

Both child brides were only 13 years old when they married, but both have since passed their 14th birthdays.

Margie, Mrs. Victor Snell, did not attend the Hapeville schools. Her parents live in Center Hill and she only came to Hapeville to live late last summer, coming to be a companion to her aunt, whose husband had recently died.

The little girl-wife was married on October 1 last, at a time when she was only 13 years of age and a pupil in the Hapeville grammar school on College avenue. Their wedding was half of a double wedding, in which Mrs. Cockran's brother, Victor, 18, and Maggie Eskew, another 13-year-old bride, also took part.

ASSEMBLY IS GEARED TO CLEAR 'MUST' BILLS

call up the general appropriations act tomorrow morning, hoping for a final vote on it before noon Monday and permitting a first reading of it in the senate late Monday afternoon.

Speaker Roy W. Harris said he was confident that all of the Rivers tax bills would be passed out of the house by Monday night and Senate President John B. Spivey also gave assurances that all Rivers-sponsored measures would be put through the upper branch of the assembly in ample time for action on them in the house.

"There now appears to be little danger of an extra session until after the June 8 election," Speaker Harris said after the house pledged to work day and night to clear its calendar. "We will get through by midnight next Thursday unless an unexpected jam occurs."

Tax Act Delayed.
It was learned authoritatively that the general tax act, already approved by the house committee on ways and means, will not be called up for action at this session but will be carried over until the special session, Governor Rivers has announced he will call for a study of the tax structure of the state.

In fixing a new scale of rates for the income tax the house adopted an amendment by Speaker Harris and Simmons placing a higher rate in some classes than did the original bill submitted by Simmons.

Tax measures now pending before the senate include those on chain stores, cigars and cigarettes, wines, unemployment insurance, maintenance on trucks and buses, and liquor.

Governor Rivers signed during the day the "bootleg gasoline" tax bill, designed to tighten down on the collection of the 6-cent gasoline tax and estimated by its sponsors to bring in $1,000,000 in additional revenue to the state.

Post Road Bill Signed.
The Governor also signed the rural post roads bill designed to bring the United States mail routes and farm to market roads into a special division of the highway commission.

This completed the Governor's New Deal program with the exception of a new labor department. This bill was sent to a conference committee by the senate house yesterday to iron out differences between the two bodies.

The Governor prepared to sign this morning the highway patrol bill which he said was not an administration measure, but one to which he was "friendly."

Speed limits on passenger cars operating on highways would be abolished, except as to curves, and a violated the patient's confidence, he declared.

PHYSICIANS JAILED FOR KEEPING HIS OATH

After the doctor had refused to answer a question of the defense which would divulge the name of another woman who had received the same treatment as the plaintiff, Judge Humphries ruled:

"I can conceive of good reasons why the relationship between a physician and his patient should have been treated as confidential, but the legislature of the state hasn't seen fit to so declare. Therefore, when a person feels themselves bigger than the law and the courts, he must take the consequences."

"I have the highest respect for Judge Humphries and the court and my refusal to answer in no way reflects disrespect," the physician declared.

"But I believe any reputable physician would have done as I have done."

Thereupon the sheriff was ordered to lock Dr. Green up until he saw fit to answer the question. Dr. Green was held in the reception room at the jail during the night until given quarters for the night.

With him, at the jail, were his wife and a brother. A son came in and out between calls made on legal authorities in an effort to find some way to get his father out of jail.

Was Suit Witness.
Dr. Green had qualified as an expert witness and on this account was forced to answer any questions ruled relevant on cross-examination. He was testifying in the case brought against the Georgia Power Company by Mrs. E. E. Elliott, who is seeking damages for injuries allegedly caused by a street car and automobile accident on West Hunter street.

Mrs. Elliott, the plaintiff, had previously testified that the accident of which she complained had occurred on August 26, 1935. She testified that this accident was responsible for her child being born deaf in February, 1936.

Dr. Green, testifying in behalf of Mrs. Elliott, stated that he treated the plaintiff first on September 3, 1935, eight days after the alleged accident. He was asked whether a widely recognized prenatal test had not been performed on the plaintiff in November, 1935, three months after the accident in question, and whether this test had not been positive. These questions were answered by the doctor in the affirmative.

Where Clash Started.
He was then asked by counsel for the Georgia Power Company if this test was not generally recognized by the medical profession as being accurate, and whether the positive result obtained in the test on Mrs. Elliott in November following her accident in August would not indicate that no injury had resulted to her unborn child. The witness replied that he had had numerous cases in which the test had proved inaccurate, whereupon counsel for the Georgia Power Company asked him to name one case in which the result of the test had been found by him to be inaccurate. It was this question that the doctor declined to answer, whereupon Judge Humphries ordered that the question be relevant for two reasons, first, as a test of the doctor's credibility and, second, to indicate the experience on which the doctor based his testimony as an expert witness.

Two other physicians, appearing for Mrs. Elliott, testified in the course of similar questioning with reference to the prenatal test, that it was virtually infallible, one testifying that it was regarded by medical science as being 98 per cent accurate.

Court Ruling.
Dr. Green positively refused to answer. It was then he was held in contempt of court and the judge said, "Do the court and I return to answer questions held by the court to be proper is destructive of authority of the court and is calculated to destroy the administration of justice through fair and impartial courts."

To divulge the name of women who have been treated privately would be violating the oath he took when he began the practice of medicine 25 years ago, Dr. Green said.

"Any doctor who would give information such as was wanted of me should be thrown out of the profession," Green declared indignantly. "He is unworthy to be called a doctor and is unfit to be used as material with which to sweep the streets."

Dr. Green had frequent callers at the jail yesterday, all telling him they thought he was right in his stand, and that they admired him for what he was doing and that they thought the law would not allow him to be held because of refusal to violate a professional confidence.

"But, here I sit," Green said at the jail.

He said he was prepared to stay in jail as long as was necessary, that he would never give such testimony as would injure his patients.

"I Will Not Betray Her."
"If there was any material question involved, I would answer," he said, "but as I had already under oath testified that there are exceptions to the test, that should be sufficient. I would not want to place a very prominent woman in an embarrassing situation as it would drag information about her personal and family life into the court. I will not be guilty of betraying her or any other patient who has trusted in me. Any other doctor would take the same stand as I have."

Judge Humphries was described by the doctor as a man well versed in the law and as a man whom he had always supported in all his elections.

"But, I am afraid that by ordering me to testify as to private information about a woman he is tearing

Doctor Prefers Jail To Violation of Oath

"I'll never betray a confidence placed in me by my patient or let the medical profession down by doing so," declared Dr. Samuel Green as he prepared to make himself as comfortable as possible last night at Fulton tower. He was arrested on order of Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton superior court, after the doctor refused to answer a question asked by an attorney who was cross-examining him.

For 40 years Dr. Green served on the city Democratic executive committee, three of these were served as chairman. He was state dragon of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan for five years, resigning in 1934. For four years he served on the state Democratic executive committee, resigning in 1936. He is a graduate of a Cincinnati medical college and has been a member of the Delta Tau Delta social fraternity and several other fraternal bodies.

Heardings on the case will continue this morning and before the case is concluded Dr. Green will be given an opportunity to answer the question, Judge Humphries said.

from Ernest Andrews, of a Blue Ridge avenue address, who was only slightly hurt when the car crashed.

Andrews said he was asleep on the back seat of the car and was awakened when the vehicle began rolling over and over on its side. He said he and his two companions were tossed clear of the car, which turned over about a half-dozen times.

The car, he reported, did not leave the highway. Clark called to him, he told ambulance drivers, and asked if anyone were hurt. Clark later lost consciousness before reaching Atlanta.

Andrews declared he had no idea what caused accident.

Another traffic mishap late yesterday afternoon resulted in Samuel Krogh, 10, of 1186 Barnes street, N. W., being admitted to Crawford W. Long hospital for observation. According to police reports, the boy darted into the vehicle of George A. Brown Jr., of Springdale road, which was proceeding north in front of 1128 West Peachtree street. No charges were placed against Brown.

SIX PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM TENNESSEE JAIL

SOMERVILLE, Tenn., March 18.—(P)—Six prisoners saved their way to freedom from the Fayette county jail at 11 a. m. today, and escaped on foot. The group included Everett (Happy) Haynes, 35, of Pinson, Tenn., who was questioned by Memphis police a week ago in connection with five west Tennessee and north Mississippi bank robberies.

Wiley Gilbert Richardson, 38, also of Pinson, arrested with Haynes in the bank robbery investigation, and another prisoner held on an attempted larceny charge were stopped just as they tried to climb from a window by John Robbins, 65-year-old jailer, officers reported.

George Washington knew the farming problem of gullying soil and erosion, and he used such methods as he could to check erosion on his Virginia estates.

Cleveland's Birthday Observed by Friends

NEW YORK, March 18.—(P)—The use of troops by President Grover Cleveland in handling a serious strike of nearly half a century ago was recalled today as his former secretary and other noted figures joined in observing the centenary of his birth.

Cleveland—a Democrat, who was the only President twice elected to non-consecutive terms—called out the troops to protect the United States mails from interruption during the Pullman strike of 1894.

The Pullman crisis was mentioned during the memorial exercises today by Robert Lincoln O'Brien, chairman of the United States tariff commission, who was secretary to the former President.

CONSTITUTION'S DAILY CROSS WORD PUZZLE

HIGH NOON

By RUBY M. AYRES

WHAT WAS GONE BEFORE: Upon the shoulders of Heather, now 24, has rested the burden of rearing six brothers and sisters, the youngest of whom, Bobbie, now nearly 17, had lost their mother's life. Heather had started her own life when Bobbie was a year old, taking Bruce Logan, who was having a hard time in South Africa, that she could not marry him and desert Caesar, as they affectionately called their pompous but sufficient father, and "her children." Caesar has insufficient means to maintain the home his father gave him as a wedding present, and spends his time writing a "book" which never completed. Past the older brother, has married a wealthy woman who, after a year, alienated him from his family. Now Betty has just married the well-to-do Stephen Miller and left on her honeymoon, leaving Heather alone by her efforts to make the wedding a success. Betty's romance recalls Bruce Logan's trial to her mind.

Her sister, Vilette, who has been traveling with a second-rate theatrical company in South Africa (Ponsonby is her stage name), writes to announce she is through with the stage, will be on her way home when the letter is received, and has set the man, Heather goes to meet the boat train but the manful Vilette goes from Southampton. On Heather's return Vilette introduces him to Bruce Logan, who is now in London. Heather makes opportunities to be alone with Heather but she avoids intimate talk. Heather is a blunt, direct, and honest man, after phoning, Bobbie, who is interested in motors and aviation, claims that Vilette bursts into tears, saying Bruce doesn't love her. Heather is trying to do anything in the world for you, and Bruce.

INSTALLMENT VII

Heather went upstairs. Bobbie would be in disgrace with Vilette—she wished she had warned him to be more tactful. She knocked on her sister's door. "May I come in?"

As there was no answer, she turned the handle and entered, to find Vilette lying on her back on the bed, smoking furiously. "Isn't it hot? I don't wonder you stayed at home," Heather said.

"Stayed at home?" Vilette exploded. "I never had the chance to do anything else. I should like to ring Bobbie's neck," she added viciously.

Heather made no comment, and her sister went on. "All lunch time he pestered Bruce with questions about motors and rubbish of that sort, till at last Bruce simply had to offer to take him for a run in the car, and they just went, that's all."

She tried to laugh, but it was not very successful. "Hardly the way for a love-sick swain to behave, is it?" she asked bitterly.

Heather said: "But he's coming back of course—they'll be in to tea, I expect. Don't be so upset, dear."

"I'm not upset," Vilette jabbed the stub of a cigarette into the ash tray and lit another.

"I'm a fool to mind," she said. "But I do. He isn't a bit the same—not in the least like he was in South Africa or on the boat. He just treats me as if I were you, or some one that didn't count."

Heather winced. Timidly she asked: "Was the lunch all right? I told Priddy to be very careful."

"Oh, yes, it was all right, I suppose—I didn't eat much—I was too fed-up," she stared up at the ceiling, her pretty face set in hard lines. "I suppose I'm getting paid-out, that's what it is," she said. "I know I've flirted and—well, that was unkind to Bert—horribly unkind—but it wasn't any use pretending when I didn't care tuppence about him, and now—when I do care—" she stopped, and to Heather's distress she flung down the cigarette and turned her face away.

JUST NUTS

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

THE WORLD'S LARGEST DESERT.

The most pleasant parts of the desert are the oases, where trees and grass grow, and where people have farms and villages, even cities. Sometimes an oasis is just a small plot of ground with a clump of palm trees and a spring, but in other cases it is of large size, with trees bearing dates, figs and peaches.

—which means it is far too hot to drink until it is allowed to cool.

The folk of the Fijig oasis have built drains to lead the water down to lower parts of the region. These drains are formed from stones and cement, and many of them lead to reservoirs. The hot springs supply water for every corner of the oasis.

Trains of camels pass through Fijig, and sometimes a "train" is composed of a hundred camels. Ivory and gold dust are among the important products carried by camels across the desert, and a single camel train has been known to transport goods with a value of half a million dollars.

Another interesting place is the Bilma oasis, which is noted for its salt pits. This oasis contains a village of 700 population.

In working a salt pit, the people flood the pit with water, then wade in and work with hoes to loosen the salt crystals. After being taken from the pit, the wet salt is placed in conical mounds, and allowed to dry. Cones of salt are traded for food and clothing.

The sandy soil of the Sahara is rich enough to grow fine crops. In some places it has been irrigated by using water flowing down from the highlands. In years to come, there may be a great deal more work done along that line. It may be found to turn hundreds of thousands of square miles of sandy waste into crop-bearing farms, it will add greatly to the wealth of the world.

Geologists have located beds of coal, and reserves of oil in the Sahara. The desert also contains phosphate beds.

THEATER NEWS

Arlliss Now at Rialto

In "East Meets West"
George Arlliss appears in the role of an eastern potentate in his latest picture, "East Meets West," which opens at the Rialto theater for a week's run today. It is a picture that perfectly suits the peculiar Arlliss art and is one that should add many to his already large following in Atlanta.

Made by Gaumont-British, the picture is notable for its adherence to detail accuracy, a feature of British made pictures which has made them outstanding in many respects, among all screen productions.

In addition to the star, "East Meets West" boasts a cast that includes such famous players as Geoffrey Tait, Lucie Mannheim, Ronald Ward, Norma Varden, John Laurie and many others. It was directed by Herbert Mason.

The story centers around the Sultan of a small oriental country who possesses a port for which England, and another nation, are rivals. The Sultan is playing one against the other, seeking the highest price he can get for the exclusive use of that port.

The Sultan's son is in love with the wife of a British officer who is smuggling rum into the country. The officer is arrested and condemned to death—which the son desires because it will free the Englishman's wife.

In addition to the exceptional feature, Manager W. T. Murray offers patrons of the Rialto another group of clever short subjects, rounding out an attractive program for the week.

"Lloyds of London" Now On Paramount Screen

Against the turbulent canvas of adventure and intrigue which forms the pulse-stirring background of "Lloyds of London," the picture that has startled two continents and which opens today at the Paramount theater, after a week at the Fox, there stands out one of the great love stories of all time, when fierce courage and vengeful fury fought to the death for a love that flamed while the fate of an empire hung in the balance.

When Freddie Bartholomew, as young Jonathan Blake, and Douglas Scott, as the youthful Horatio Nelson, discover a plot to scuttle a ship and collect the insurance from Lloyds, the boyhood friends determine to warn "Mr. Lloyds" of the plot. At the last moment, Horatio's uncle, Lord Macaulay, to sea, and Freddie sets out alone on the hundred mile walk to London.

The young lad's courage so impresses Sir Guy's handling, head of the syndicate, that he rewards the boy by taking him into business, where every year Jonathan grows in stature and reputation.

Jonathan Blake, now played by Tyrone Power, grows along with Lloyds. A secret mission to France brings a meeting with Madeleine Carroll, a stormy sea-voyage back to England, during which the boy's love for each other, and a crushing blow for Jonathan's new-found hopes when he learns that she is already married to Lord Stacy, his avowed enemy.

In the midst of world turmoil and personal torment, Jonathan, now famous in Lloyds, struggles to maintain equilibrium and fight his way through to happiness for himself, honor and glory for his firm, and supremacy for England. To protect Admiral Nelson and keep the integrity of the fleet, and ultimately to save the British Empire, he risks everything.

"Under Cover of Night," Murder Yarn, at Grand Players from several notable hits of recent weeks are assembled around Edmund Lowe in "Under Cover of Night," the picture in which he creates a new detective character, the sleuth, which comes to Lowe's Grand theater today.

Among them are Dorothy Peterson, who played in both Dionne Quintuplets pictures; Henry Daniell, who played Varrille in "Garbo's Camille"; Nat Pendleton, the Sandow of "The Great Ziegfeld," and Henry Fothergill, the friar in "Romeo and Juliet."

The new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture presents a new character in a new form of detective story in which, instead of awaiting a surprise finish, the audience literally turns detective itself and follows the investigation step by step. Each spectator thus can dramatize himself in the detective's shoes, being provided with every clue he has.

The locale is a great university with mysterious killings among the faculty. The scientific sleuth takes a hand, solving the mystery from the tiny clue of a pet dog's toy ball. Fantastic lab-

NEVER NEGLECT YOUR FEET
No one should ever neglect the care of their feet. A pair of good, healthy feet save a lot of misery. And here is something that does give real foot comfort.

Simply go to your drugist and get some Ice Mint. Use it for one day and see if this isn't the greatest little package of foot joy you ever saw.

Ice Mint prevents foot odors, keeps the feet cool and comfortable, relieves the stinging pain of corns and calluses and every person who has to walk or stand very much, surely will appreciate how good it makes the feet feel. Try it just once and give your poor, tired, aching feet the treat of their lives.

You will like the way Ice Mint works and the cooling comfort it brings to your feet; even a new pair of shoes won't bother you. Just one day's use will prove it. (adv.)

Sherwood Anderson Praises Start in Slum Clearance at Techwood

Sherwood Anderson, left, famous figure in American literature, spent yesterday in Atlanta. He visited the Techwood project, where slums had been cleared, and said: "They talk of not enough work in America when there is enough work for everyone to last a thousand years in just clearing out slums and giving people the opportunity of decent housing." He is shown being interviewed by Ralph McGill.

"Great Force Is Loose in Nation," Sherwood Anderson Tells McGill

Techwood Project Praised as Start Toward Better Housing, Health and Education; Terms Elimination of Tenant Farming Necessary.

By RALPH MCGILL
"Do we have to take a taxi? Let's walk."

Anderson wanted to see Techwood project. And so we walked down the streets and down the hill and turned into Techwood and kept walking until the vista of clean grass and buildings opened up before us.

Anderson shook his head. "I would never have thought of a thing like this if Roosevelt had not suggested it."

We walked on, seeing the playgrounds and the people going and coming from the apartments. He turned and looked at the fringe of the slum buildings.

"Work for Everyone."
"And they say there isn't work in this country," he said. "If we could do just the work that should be done on two things alone, housing and farm rehabilitation, we would have enough work for everyone to do and it would last for a thousand years."

He wanted to see Anderson. He saw the clean, modern apartments. He learned that the highest priced apartment, under $40 per month, included heat, light, refrigeration, cooking, laundry privileges and access to all the playgrounds and other facilities.

He heard of the families who had come there from the slums and had been unable to "take it." A few can't. There are, in this land of the free and of equal opportunity for all, some people who have been so crushed by circumstance and fate and so muddled mentally, they simply cannot "take" bathrooms and electric refrigerators.

Mrs. Roosevelt said, when here not long ago, the only hope was to give those tragic people better housing, educate their children and give those children a better housing.

Sherwood Anderson, one of the great men in American literature, shook his head. The tragedy of the submerged peoples has been one of his subjects in his writings.

Fear of Gap.
He heard how the few families of that type that had tried the apartment had seemed to fear the great gap which was between them and the other peoples of their world. They came and saw and somehow were afraid and uncertain and finally, feeling themselves apart, quit.

Anderson, more than any other writer America has produced, knows people. He has made his job that of going about and talking with people.

You may read about Anderson in "Tar," a story of childhood. You may find some of his wistful searching in "A Story-Teller's Notebook." You may read more of it in his "Winesburg, Ohio." You may get another picture in "Dark Laughter." In "The Triumph of the Egg" he tells another story. In all his books—"Poor White," "Beyond Desire" and in his later ones, he is telling the story of people. And usually of the mill workers, the "lint heads," disease and crime and sorrow and a pitiful people?"

The south interests him. "What about the south?" I asked. "The south," he said, "is a beautiful section. It has more gifts than any other sections. It has beauty and climate and land."

"Tenants—Poverty."
"I suppose no one is to blame. But something must be done. What are we to do? What is Georgia to do with almost 200,000 tenant and sharecropper farmers who are living in terrible conditions of poverty and who lack housing, education, opportunity? There is more wealth there, if the income of those people could be increased, than Georgia could dig from gold mines. The south is poor because of its farm tenants and sharecroppers. The south always will be poor until it solves this problem."

"Sometimes I think perhaps the south is paying the cost of slavery. But perhaps not. It is quite possible no one is to blame. But there they are, the great class of tenant farmers."

"Thousands of acres of land are going to ruin. Erosion, neglect, lack of good farming, all this is costing the south much."

"Something must be done. What is the south going to do? The south that is so blessed with other things. There is a great mine of wealth."

Resettlement Urged.
"But there must be education and housing and teaching of those people. The government plan of resettlement and rehabilitation perhaps is best. That has shown what can be done. It has demonstrated that the tenant can be made to care for his land."

So he watched them try to take small farms and do something with them. There was something that cried out to him, trying to tell something.

Watched People.
It was a difficult task. He knew nothing about writing. But he began to go and talk with people. He lived with them. He watched them. He learned what went on "inside" them. He tried to put his own mind there and make it see what a "lint head" thought or felt or wanted, or desired. And what could be done to make him want or desire more."

He is a rugged character in American letters. He does not write in pretty, well-trimmed phrases. He puts the words down as they come.

Mrs. Anderson was with him. She was here for a conference with the Y. W. C. A. group. They are trying to do something for the factory girls in the cities; for the country girls who come to the cities to work in the factories.

"We will never go back to the old way," he said. "A great force is loose in the land and we will go forward. It seems strange that a housing project should be so new, so strange. Why, have we always been so passive about slums which breed

OATH LAW REPEAL VOTED BY HOUSE

Massachusetts Legislators Send Allegiance Act to Senate.

BOSTON, March 18.—(AP)—The Massachusetts house of representatives today passed and sent to the senate by a 120-to-112 vote a measure to repeal the teachers' oath law.

The highly controversial bill had been passed to third reading Tuesday by a 111-to-102 vote. The teachers' oath law requires teachers in all schools and colleges in the state to swear allegiance to state and national constitutions.

CHRYSLER PLANNING NEW LEGAL ACTION TO REMOVE STRIKERS

Corporation May Try To Enforce $10,000,000 Fine Against Union.

DETROIT, March 18.—(AP)—Six thousand sit-down strikers stubbornly entrenched behind barricaded Chrysler automobile plant gates tonight awaited the next legal move toward their forcible eviction—moves which a corporation spokesman said attorneys were preparing "as fast as they can."

The strikers' disregard of a circuit court injunction in their move to enforce demands that the United Automobile Workers of America receive exclusive bargaining rights for Chrysler employees, has made them liable to a $10,000,000 penalty, if the corporation decides to try to enforce it.

The first strikes in General Motors plants since a final agreement with the U. A. W. A. was signed, interrupted for a short time operations of the huge Fisher Body Plant No. 1 at Flint, Michigan.

Bills making sit-down strikers and employers or employees who refuse to negotiate in labor disputes guilty of felonies, were introduced in the state senate.

A civic conciliation board headed by Dr. Frederic Steadman, executive director of the University of Detroit, was formed in Detroit and announced its first mediation efforts would be directed at commercial rather than industrial strikes.

Richard T. Frankenstein, union organizational director engaging in daily negotiations with Chrysler executives seeking a strike settlement, said "we have not received from our position one iota."

REMINGTON-RAND AGREEMENT REACHED
WASHINGTON, March 18.—(AP)—American Federation of Labor leaders and James H. Rand Jr., reached an agreement tonight to settle the prolonged Remington-Rand strike.

Secretary of Labor Louis Brandeis, who helped arrange the agreement at a conference in his office, said it was subject to ratification by the strikers and the board of directors of Remington-Rand, Inc., before it became final.

It would involve the employment of about 1,200 strikers.

Miss Perkins said that the settlement had no connection with a recent labor relations board decision directing the company to re-employ 4,000 workers the board said had lost their jobs during the strike.

CHICAGO POLICE READY TO BATTLE RIOTERS
CHICAGO, March 18.—(AP)—The police department massed its manpower in the business district today to thwart a renewal of cab strike rioting.

Acting Commissioner John Prendergast ordered out the reserves after he had received information that vandals planned a new raid on loop taxicabs operating in spite of the 15-day-old drivers' strike.

SIT-DOWN STRIKERS EJECTED FROM STORE
NEW YORK, March 18.—(UP)—Sixty girls and 16 male sit-down strikers were forcibly ejected by police from a Woolworth five-and-ten-cent store here tonight.

It was understood that Mayor F. H. LaGuardia and police officials decided to use force to prevent spread of the strike for higher wages and better working conditions to 50 other metropolitan Woolworth stores.

The police first dispersed about 75 sympathizers who gathered in front of the store. The 16 men were removed first by one by one. When 30 or 40 patrolmen began to usher the girls out a battle ensued. Clothing was torn from several of the girls, but they were carried away to a precinct station to await arraignment in night court on charges of disorderly conduct.

visited "chartroom," Manning working the radio for bearings and communications and Noonan occupying himself chiefly with quick sight-ings.

Yesterday at 4:37 we left Oakland. We made the 2,400 miles in 15 hours and 48 minutes, exactly five minutes less than the time estimated in my advance flight calculations.

With 947 gallons of gasoline aboard, the Electra had a heavy load to raise from the wet field at Oakland.

Team Play in Take-Off
Paul Mantz and I had carefully worked out the piloting technique of that start. It was a team-play take-off each with his job. I at the controls. Paul handling throttles and retractable landing gear. The 1,000 horses of my two Wasp engines leaped so gallantly to the task of lifting 14,000 pounds into the sky, that our wheels left the ground after the almost unbelievable run of 1,897 feet—as subsequent measurement showed, incidentally, 100 cc. of gasoline gave the motors extra power.

Once aloft, I throttled down. Engines have human habits—they usually respond to kindly treatment. With a long, long grind before them I shall try to give mine the least possible punishment. If at any time it's necessary to call on them to put forth their all, I believe they'll respond.

Clipper Ship Sighted
Yesterday evening the Golden Gate was truly golden. Behind us dark rain clouds closed in. But westward, the sky opened, bright with late afternoon sun which burst through the slopes of Mount Tamalpais on one hand, and story-book San Francisco on the other, as we headed westward over the great new bridges, threads of steel below us. One hour out from Alameda, we sighted Pan-American's Hawaii clipper, silhouetted against a towering bank of cumulus sun-flecked clouds. We flew near enough actually to obtain photographs. Shortly, with our greater speed, we slowly left the big flying boat astern.

Body-Laden Debris Is Searched for Blast Dead

A general view of the New London (Texas) Consolidated School in ruins yesterday afternoon as thousands of rescuers swarmed into the debris to search for the living and dead children and their teachers. Every hour brought more bodies to light until at 2:30 o'clock (Atlanta time) this morning it was assured that the total dead would reach far more than 420 victims.

Where Tragic School Explosion Occurred

New London, Texas, scene of the tragic school explosion yesterday is a little south of a line from Shreveport, La., to Dallas, Texas, and about half way between these two cities. The nearest city is Tyler.

sights abruptly ended with the discovery that our carburetors were icing up. This difficulty passed with the application of heat, but then forward we watched them closely for the remainder of the night. This was the first time since the friendship flight in '28 that I've had company when voyaging over an ocean. Not that there are any particularly social aspects to this one.

Robot Pilots Plane
For the first part of the flight, I did most of the piloting. While Paul watched fuel consumption. Some time after midnight, the moon, which had been a friendly guide, hid behind a cloud bank, and we decided to let the Sperry gyro pilot labor for us. So we set to work that uncanny instrument, which keeps a plane on its course an gives a human pilot a vacation.

Compared with earlier flights, such as the two Atlantic crossings, when I had no radio, a venture like the present seems almost chatty and neighborly. Always we were in touch with the world. All of us were so occupied throughout the night that there was no time to doze even had there been inclination. Indeed, there was hardly opportunity to eat. We carried box lunches, but I noticed upon arrival there were very few sandwiches missing.

Having visited these lovely islands before, I am accustomed to the very special hospitality of Hawaii, but I did not expect so many of its friendly people to go without breakfast that they might welcome us.

PRINTS MAY HELP TO IDENTIFY DEAD
Texas Officials Will Check Children Killed in Explosion.

AUSTIN, Texas, March 18.—(UP)—Fingerprints which Overton oil field children had taken in fun while attending the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas last summer will make it possible to identify many dead in the New London explosion, it was believed tonight.

The fingerprints of thousands of visitors at the exposition were taken by officers of the State Department of Public Safety. All were sent to headquarters here.

A. L. Ford and Eugene Wells, of the Public Safety Department left for east Texas tonight to take the prints of all unidentified bodies in Morgues in Overton and other cities. They will be sent here for checking. Undertakers said that only by the prints could some of the victims be identified.

Hundreds of Pupils Killed In Texas School Explosion

anxious fathers and mothers dragged the bodies of still more victims into the school gymnasium.

There the children and their teachers were placed end on end awaiting identification.

State police and American Legionnaires rushed to the scene and took charge. Even laundry trucks became ambulances.

Members of the Parent-Teacher Association meeting in a gymnasium escaped themselves only to find a scene of family horror near by.

Rescue Workers Rushed
Five hundred men raced from the oil fields served by the school to the scene.

Later an additional 4,000 men went to work upon the ruins.

Disheveled, screaming mothers, some of them in disagreement over the identification of the broken bodies, milled about the school grounds. The scene was chaotic.

The feelings of Texas were voiced by Governor Allred, who said simply:

"I can conceive of nothing more terrible than such a death for children."

Most of the bodies seemed to have been crushed or torn. Few were burned.

Among the crowds who did not know yet the toll taken from their families was Mrs. W. H. Phillips, who lives near the wrecked building. She had two children in the building.

Her five-year-old son, James, went with her this afternoon to meet Virgil, 12, and Camilla, 10. Mrs. Phillips stopped for a moment in a nearby store. The five-year-old ran ahead of her to the building.

Building Is Shattered
The next moment the explosion shattered the schoolhouse.

The body of Virgil was among the first brought out of the ruins.

Superintendent Shaw, one of the few members of the faculty who escaped death in the mighty blast, was aiding rescue workers.

At least seven producing oil wells are on the school's large campus. The school is midway between the communities of London and New London and serves several other towns within an area of 30 square miles.

The school is nine miles northwest of Henderson. Many of the students were children of oil field workers or officials of oil companies.

Blast Is Described
L. Z. Barker, 16, senior in the high school, was in the study hall when the explosion occurred.

"It was nearly seven minutes before time for dismissal," he said. "Suddenly the floor rose up. There was a terrible blast. It sounded like dynamite. I was not badly hurt. I was hit on the back of the head by something. I jumped out the second floor window. Twenty or thirty were killed in the second floor study hall. At first I and others believed that was all. It seemed like the blast came from the laboratory in the basement. Nobody knew, though."

One of the striking characteristics of the disaster was the small number of injured. Bodies of the children were removed in a constant stream but there were few injured.

As night fell workers set up spotlights and a half dozen giant oil field cranes were swung into position and set to clearing out the debris to expose the hidden bodies of the children.

It promised to be an all-night effort with terrible confusion. Every highway into the area was jammed with automobiles carrying doctors, nurses and undertakers, frantic parents and sightseers.

Rangers To Aid in Rescue
Colonel H. H. Carmichael, director, said all available Texas rangers and highway patrolmen were being rushed from Dallas, Houston, Austin and Tyler.

Two fingerprint experts were sent from Austin on the possibility they might assist in identifying the bodies. Many Texas school children have been fingerprinted and it was thought some might be among the dead.

An airplane load of doctors and nurses were dispatched here from distant Wichita Falls to the west.

At nearby Overton the Baptist church was turned into a hospital.

Thirty doctors and seventy-two nurses, 12 of them from the Red Cross, came from Dallas.

Accompanying the doctors and nurses were 12 ambulances, 25 embalmers and five hearses.

Mothers, some sobbing and some stricken dumb, pressed close to the rescue workers or moved from one group of the dead to another in what was most often a vain search for their children.

In many cases the clothes of the dead were tattered and their faces blackened by the blast and the fire that followed it.

A Henderson, Texas, undertaker said he was caring for 100 bodies and was forced to use space in garages.

Possibly 85 children were being treated at a Tyler hospital.

Two children were reported to have been taken alive from beneath the ruins.

Eight of the dead had been identified as children of their employes, the Humble Oil Company reported.

U. S. DISPATCHES AID TO EXPLOSION VICTIMS
WASHINGTON, March 18.—(AP)—The Red Cross, the War Department and the Bureau of Mines sent relief and investigatory machinery in motion tonight in the New London, Texas, school explosion.

The Texas senators, Morris Sheppard and Tom Connally, asked aid from the Red Cross and government agencies for the New London victims.

Red Cross headquarters here said relief units were going into the Texas village from cities in Texas and Louisiana, as well as other points. Senator Sheppard said that Major General Herbert J. Brees, eighth corps area commander, had been instructed to give all possible assistance.

The Bureau of Mines' director of safety, Daniel Harrington, said an inspector would be sent to the scene to study the cause of the explosion.

'War Is Futile,' Senator Nye Says
COLUMBIA, S. C., March 18.—(AP)—Senator Nye, of North Dakota, chairman of the munitions investigation committee, today told some thousands of school teachers attending the fifty-first annual convention of the South Carolina Education Association, that war is "futile."

Nye reviewed the "alleged" causes of the World War, and claimed it was responsible for the recent depression. Depressions, he contended, always follow wars.

"I believe in national defense," he said, "but I certainly wish the country would limit itself to national defense. . . . We are not engaged in a program of national defense, but national offense."

Moment's Leave Costs Life of Man
KILGORE, Texas, March 18.—(AP)—A. W. Waldrop, physical education teacher at the London Consolidated school was conducting a class in physical education on the grounds today. He left the class momentarily, to re-enter the building. In that moment an explosion wrecked the school.

He was among the dead, his pupils among the survivors.

A television station, mainly for experimental work, is to be established in Warsaw, Poland.

'HUNTING PAN' USED
Device Is One of Few Still in Existence.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 18.—(UP)—One of the few "hunting pans" still in use and a definition of it written more than 100 years ago is in possession of a Sharp county family.

In a history of the county written by Charles W. Shaver, the hunting pan is described as follows:

"A hunting pan was a flat utensil of tin, a foot or more in diameter and having a handle five or six feet long. This was of iron. Hunters placed of wood in the pan when hunting deer in brush and down the numerous streams."

"One of the number carried the handle of the pan across his shoulder. Deers would come to the edge of the stream to investigate the red glow. The reflection of the fire in the animal's eyes would furnish an excellent mark for hunters."

S. C. BANK PROTESTS.
U. S. TAX ON ESTATE

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(AP)—The board of tax appeals disclosed today the South Carolina National Bank, Charleston, S. C., an administrator, has protested a tax of $3,937 on the estate of Charles S. G. Sinkler, for 1935.

The petitioner contended the internal revenue commissioner erred in including in the gross estate one-third interest in property at Flat Rock, N. C., worth $2,275, property at Eustis, Fla., worth $25,000 and property worth $80,825 transferred to the decedent in 1917, the income from which was reserved to the decedent for life.

KILLED BY TRAIN.
JACKSON, Miss., March 18.—(UP)—An unidentified white man was killed by a train when he stepped into a Mississippi Valley passenger train west of here this afternoon.

A powerful amber light is a new fog signal for ships, where the St. Clair river flows out of Lake Huron, thus supplementing the "fog horn," which sounds a warning.

Dorothy Bagwell Will Reign Over Seminary's 'Festival Day'

By Sally Forth.

THE thrill that comes only once in a lifetime to a young schoolgirl, when she is elected Miss Queen, was enjoyed by Dorothy Bagwell yesterday when she learned that she had been chosen to reign over "Festival Day," the May Day pageant to be presented by Washington Seminary some time in May. Emily Mobley was chosen maid of honor, and an attractive group of 10 students were named to take part in the May court, these being Misses Betty Ann Byrd, Sue Clapp, Margaret L'Engle, Margaret Palmer, Patricia Poole, Nan Schwab, Elizabeth Colley, Helen Fuller, Susan Spratt and Georgia Adams.

"Festival Day" will be a brilliant and colorful pageant and will present scenes showing festivals of each month during the year. Anyone who has ever attended one of the Seminary's May Day fetes knows what an event of exquisite beauty it is, and with the lovely girls in the court, this year's promises to surpass those of other days.

Dot, who will have the thrill of reigning over this beautiful scene, is the lovely young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Clinton Bagwell. She is a senior at the Seminary and is a member of the Pi Phi sorority and the Pirates' Club. She is also active in the Washington Seminary Tallulah Falls Circle, serving as president of that group. Dot is a brunette of a distinctive type and her friends can already vision the exquisite picture she will make in her queenly robes.

AN INTERESTING visitor who made a too brief visit here this week was Miss Bertha B. Morley as the guest of Mrs. J. Walter Wright at her home on Peachtree. Miss Morley has had a varied career in educational circles, being the principal of the Annapolis Girls' school in Salonika, Greece.

Her work had its beginning while she was teaching at Pleasant Hill Academy in Mount Pleasant, Tenn. From there she went to Turkey to teach, and later to Greece, where she has made her home since 1914. She speaks Greek and Turkish like a native, her reputation as a teacher is far-flung, and she is a devout Christian. In addition to her extensive work in educational circles, Miss Morley's humanitarian interest lies in the fact that she adopted many children from orphan homes in Turkey, educated them, and sent some to her native United States, where they completed their education, received their master's degree, and entered into their chosen profession in America.

Her brief visit with Mrs. Wright, the former Cara Belle Smith, and one of Miss Morley's students at the Pleasant Hill Academy, was of sentimental interest, in that reminiscences of teacher and student days were in order. The visitor visited her brother in Mount Dora, Fla., and will go to Chattanooga, then to Cleveland, and later to points in Texas and Oklahoma, where she will visit former pupils. It was her first visit to Atlanta, but she has visited the States several times since establishing her residence in Greece, to which country she returns next July.

THERE'S a great deal of sentiment connected with the trip which Mrs. Andrew E. Calhoun and her two sons, Dr. Abner W. Calhoun and James Calhoun, are enjoying in San Antonio, Texas. The visit to Mrs. Calhoun's son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Calhoun, was planned for this time so that Mrs. Calhoun could celebrate her birthday, which falls on Saturday, with her three sons. The only thing wrong with the family gathering is the fact that the fourth son, Andrew B. Calhoun, of Anderson, S. C., was unable to accompany them.

It will be an unusually interesting trip from two other angles, for it will give Mrs. Calhoun her first glimpse of her grand daughter, Martha Caroline, who was born during the Christmas holidays, and it will be the first time John and his wife have had the pleasure of entertaining any of their family in their charming new home, into which they moved last month.

The new home, which is situated in the beautiful hilly residential section overlooking San Antonio, is of the low, rambling type that is so well suited to Texas, and is called one of the most attractive homes in the city. Mrs. John Calhoun, the former Miss Martha Shook, a member of one of San Antonio's pioneer families, is noted for her unusual flair for decoration and the home is of an attractive type that plainly shows her ability.

Mrs. Andrew E. Calhoun, who is affectionately known as "Mrs. Cal" to her many friends in the city, is one of Atlanta's most beloved women. Her birthday is of keen interest to those friends here and doubtless many thoughtful waves of love and interest will go out to her tomorrow on this birthday, which should be one of the happiest she has ever known.

TOMORROW will be a big day at the Inman circle residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. C. Smith. In the first place, Elinor, their daughter, arrives from New York to spend the Easter holidays with her parents. Elinor, you know, is pursuing her art studies at the Grand Central Art school and her return here for a brief visit will be of widespread interest to her many friends.

Then the other arrival in the Smith home will be a former Atlantan in the person of Betty Huff, who now resides in Buffalo, N. Y. Betty is en route at this writing to Atlanta with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Huff, who will continue their southward journey to points of interest in Florida.

It will be a grand reunion between Betty and Joyce Smith, whom the former will visit, as these two lovely belles have been friends for years. Sally recalls with interest how these two girls and two others, Mrs. Jack Glenn, the former Ann Alston, and Mrs. Hugh McMillan, who was before her marriage Margaret Holcomb, were an attractive "quartet" at the Seminary, where they were all members of the same graduating class and, like the three musketeers, were "one for all and all for one."

Since moving to New York, Betty has continued her work in dramatics, which had its beginning while she was at the Seminary, and she was selected as the leading lady in the senior play the year she graduated. While residing in Buffalo, Betty has done much work in the theater guild there, in addition to a bit of radio work.

Mrs. Campbell To Speak

Mrs. Ruth Campbell, columnist, will address the Young People's Catholic Club of the Immaculate Conception church in the Sunday school hall on Sunday at 11 o'clock. Members of the Blessed Chancel Club of the Sacred Heart church, and the St. Anthony Club of the St. Anthony's church are invited to attend, as well as members of every other Catholic organization in Atlanta.

Monte Carlo Party To Be Given Friday

The Auxiliary of the Waldo M. Sinton Post No. 40 of the American Legion, will have a party at Colonial Terrace hotel on Friday at 8:15 o'clock, which will take the form of a Monte Carlo party, games of all kinds being permissible. Cards will be brought by the players.

Beautiful prizes will be awarded, the committee on prizes being George D. Newton, S. E. Dellinger, R. S. Jones and James L. Nicholson. Mrs. L. Marvin Roberts will have charge of the refreshments which will be furnished the guests at no additional cost. The funds raised will be used by the unit for their welfare work, and all friends of the Legion and Auxiliary are cordially invited to attend. There will be no tickets for this party, the small admission charge being accepted at the door.

Senior Hadassah Meeting Marked By Four Outstanding Features

Four outstanding features will mark the importance of the meeting of the Senior Hadassah next Monday to be held at the Jewish Progressive Club at 3 o'clock. Members in good standing will be enrolled in the membership scroll to be kept perpetually in the reception hall of the Hebrew University in Palestine.

The annual sheet shower will insure sufficient linen for the Palestinian hospitals and institutions, whose needs are greater than ever. The book review will be given by Emma Gettel Morris of "The Eternal Road," by Franz Werfel, a spectacular Biblical drama, now playing in New York. Mrs. J. Abelson, sewing chairman, will present a fashion show of garments made by members of the following sewing circles, Mesdames J. Abelson, I. Borochoff, Harry Robkin, S. Gogher and S. H. Kulbersh.

Benefit Supper.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Oakland City Methodist church will sponsor a supper at the church this evening from 5 to 8 o'clock.

Belitje Bancker Feted on Birthday.

Mrs. Evert A. Bancker Jr., entertained at a party yesterday at her home on Club drive in honor of her little daughter, Belitje, who celebrated her third birthday. The daintily appointed table in the dining room held as central decorations a pink china bowl filled with pastel shaded flowers. The Easter motif was carried out in the favors, and tiny stuffed rabbits, toys and dolls were given the young guests.

Members of the baby set invited to this delightful affair were Lane Akers, Newell Bryan, Dianne Dougherty, Margaret Gammage, Julie Gay, Sally Lamons, Mabel Lee Martin, Gertrude Martin, Edward Leonard, Jane Martin, Jo Anne Massee, Jimmy Milbous Jr., Leila Monfort, Nanette McBurney, Patsy O'Garra, Kevin O'Garra, Edythe Paris, Ralph Paris Jr., Braxton Pope, Sally Reed, Carter Smith, Pruden Smith, Lewis Monroe Smith Jr., Roby Strickland, John Horter Strickland, Kathryn Tomlinson, Elwyn Tomlinson Jr., Cynthia Williams, Thomas Yow Williams, Evert A. Mrs. Lindsey Hopkins Gives Luncheon At Surf Club in Miami Beach, Fla.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 18.—Mrs. Lindsey Hopkins, of Atlanta and Miami Beach, was hostess over the week end at a luncheon given at the exclusive Surf Club. The party was in compliment to her sister, Mrs. Lyndon Humphrey, of Greensboro, N. C.; Mrs. Ray Collier, of Atlanta, guest of Mrs. L. O. Bricker, and Mrs. James Allen Smith, of Macon, Ga., who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Lindsey Hopkins Jr.

Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. Elizabeth Brady, Mrs. Charles F. Kettering, of Dayton, Ohio, and Mrs. Silverthorne, and Harold McCormick.

Bridal Couple Feted.

Miss Nestelle Carley and Wilson Clonts, whose marriage will be an event of March 24, were honored at a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Steve Bomar at their home on Mayland avenue recently.

Decorations and refreshments featured the bridal motif. Each girl was presented with a miniature corsage of lily of the valley and the men with a boutonniere. The bride was honored in a most original manner with a kitchen shower. Present were Miss Carley, Misses Clara Morrison and Hazel Carley, Mesdames William Clonts and James K. Smith and Wilson Clonts, Bill Starr, James K. Smith, Jimmie Clonts, Frank McClarity and William Clonts.

General John Floyd Chapter Reports Location of 1812 Soldiers' Graves

Twenty-eight additional graves of 1812 soldiers in Georgia, 16 in Butts county, and 12 in Laurens county, one grave in Illinois, that of Ayers Constant, who enlisted from Jackson county, Georgia, and the grave of Major John Reid, buried in Bedford county, Virginia, were reported at the annual meeting of the General John Floyd Chapter as having been located. Among the graves for which markers have been ordered and will be unveiled in a few months are those of Robert Bickert, James Harkness and Matthew Gaston in Butts county; John Green Pittman, in Madison county; John White, in Clarke county; Erasmus Camp, in Gordon county; and William Towers, in De Kalb county.

The grave of Major John Reid, discovered in Bedford county, Virginia, will be marked by the General John Floyd Chapter. Major Reid was military secretary to General Andrew Jackson, and was with him at the Battle of New Orleans. The discovery of Reid's grave was a great triumph for the chapter, which has been working for the location of the graves of the soldiers of the War of 1812.

In 1812, General Andrew Jackson blazed the famous "Jackson trail" through Georgia and for a time made his headquarters in the home of John Cochran's home, built in 1774 in what is now Jackson county. The home is still standing and will be suitably marked with a bronze plate which will be inscribed with the historic facts connected with this place.

The chapter historian, Mrs. C. E. Pittman, reported new data relating to the War of 1812, and read an interesting historical paper on "Madame Gouvain," the French noblewoman, friend of the Empress Josephine and Napoleon, aunt of the great Active members are Misses Jane Clippinger, Ester Crosby, Virginia Sauls, Sarah Cheves, Ruth Lowther, Margaret Atkins, La Vern Partain and Martha Carmichael. The new initiates are Misses Medora Fitten, Eleanor Ivey, Lillian Klein, Alice Polk, Charlotte Galbraith, Jane Franklin, Eleanor Gardner, Lillian Broward, Jean Blacklock and Marion Oliver.

Evan P. Howell Camp Elects Officers.

Election of officers featured the meeting of the Camp Evan P. Howell U. C. No. 1825, held recently at the Soldiers' Home. New officers are Rev. John Morris, commander; Mesdames W. D. Langley, assistant; George Stewart, assistant adjutant; George Stewart, secretary; W. D. Langley, treasurer; J. W. Hollinsworth, historian; D. S. Lackey, pianist; D. P. Herndon, assistant; W. N. Jones, program chairman; F. F. Reid, assistant; T. S. Collins, refreshment chairman; and J. R. Smith, assistant.

Other officers are: E. F. Williams, first lieutenant; L. J. Snellgrave, second lieutenant; J. H. Herb, fourth lieutenant; A. T. Snodgrass, chaplain. Commander John Morris presided, and made an interesting talk. At the close of the meeting a message by Rev. Happy White was given and songs were sung by Rev. and Mrs. White with Mrs. Lackey at the piano.

Contract Bridge

By RLY CULBERTSON.
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily installments.

PART-SCORE BIDDING.
To summarize the procedure after a forcing two bid when there is a part-score:

(a) An opening two bid in a suit is forcing for at least one round, even when it is enough for game.

(b) If responder makes any positive response (raise, suit take-out, or jump to three no trump) opener must rebid at least once. If responder makes a negative two no trump response, he may pass.

(c) If opener rebids in any new suit it is again forcing for one round, and thereafter, whenever either partner bids a new suit, it is forcing for one round. If either partner rebids in no trump or in a suit already bid, it is not forcing.

(d) In order to make a forcing rebid in a suit which has been bid previously, the player must jump one trick in that suit.

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: The bidding is not the point under discussion here, although it may not have been perfect. West opened the heart suit, East won with the ace, and returned the diamond king. Declarer won this trick in dummy, and led a spade. East hopped up with her best girl with wearing apparel. And you, sweet young thing, have heard from mother's lips that receiving such a gift would be unthinkable. However, even the most old-fashioned mother who is presented with this little white straw hat trimmed with a big yellow bow of real ribbon, and a bunch of vari-colored spring flowers. This is a diminutive millinery box."

Just when wishing the chapeau were really large enough to fit her head, the girl friend will spy a tiny ribbon loop by which the crown may be lifted. Then the great surprise comes, for in the satin lined crown

"Yours very truly,
"N. V. Los Angeles."

East should be complimented for his shrewd defensive play of his king of diamonds. His analysis that the one way to set the contract was through a possible diamond ruff was quite correct. Declarer, however, certainly should not have fallen for East's ruse. Declarer could afford to lose a diamond trick in addition to the heart and spade that were certain losers. Probably declarer thought that the lead of the diamond king marked the queen also in East's hand, and that being the case, nothing could be lost by winning the trick with the ace. In this he was quite wrong. In the first place, the king lead did not show the queen and, in the second, even if East had had the queen, there could be no harm conceding the trick to the king. If East had four diamonds including the king and queen, whatever declarer d.d. he would be exposed to a third round diamond ruff by West. This would be merely unfortunate. But other distributions of the diamond suit could and should be guarded against. Declarer could safely assume that East held the spade ace. His take-out double could not have been justified without that card. Therefore West could not possibly have an entry unless South were to give him one by winning the diamond king with the ace, and thus establishing the diamond suit. This was a very clever play, but it should have been a question that South made a crucial error on this hand.

TODAY'S QUESTION.
Question: Is it true that one never should signal with an honor?
Answer: It certainly is not true. As a matter of common sense, honor cards should be conserved and used sparingly as signals, but in many cases urgency demands that echoes be started by the play of an honor.

Beauty According to YOU!!

(Poed by Rochelle Hudson)

A Fetching Easter Bonnet Containing Three Flacons of Perfume

By LILLIAN MAE.

Since the Easter bunny will be making his rounds early one morning now little more than a week distant, it is none too early to think about the Easter bonnet. And what an Easter bonnet I have for you today!

Of course, young man, you know it is entirely unconventional to present your best girl with wearing apparel. And you, sweet young thing, have heard from mother's lips that receiving such a gift would be unthinkable. However, even the most old-fashioned mother who is presented with this little white straw hat trimmed with a big yellow bow of real ribbon, and a bunch of vari-colored spring flowers. This is a diminutive millinery box."

Just when wishing the chapeau were really large enough to fit her head, the girl friend will spy a tiny ribbon loop by which the crown may be lifted. Then the great surprise comes, for in the satin lined crown flacons of three favorite odors put out by one of the best-known perfumers, are imbedded.

And you, friend husband, if you wish to get in right by remembering the wife in a most delightful way, can do no better than to chase out and buy this combination Easter bonnet and perfume in three favorite odors of the day. I know of no better way to become or to make your position more secure, as the favorite boy friend.

To those of the fair sex who have doubts about receiving this most unique package, I say brighten your own spirits by giving yourself this present. The three flacons of perfume are themselves, worth the amount charged, aside from the charming spring chapeau.

If you wish further information on the artistic millinery, contact Lillian Mae at her office in The Constitution Building. If you do not live in Atlanta, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Doilies Give Table Dainty Touch

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

Mere String Simple Crochet Make This Useful Set

PATTERN 5372

Breakfast, luncheon, dinner—all welcome a table-setting of airy lace doilies. Begin now on a matched set, and you'll have them ready for informal "evening" and "dinner" parties. The three useful sizes (5, 11 and 15 inches in diameter) are easy to crochet, and unbleached, white or colored string may be used. These cowbells (excellent as gifts or fair donations) look very pretty when stiffly starched. In pattern 5372 you will find complete instructions for making the doilies shown; an illustration of them and of the stitches used; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (check preferred) to Household Arts Dept., The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Enclose your name, address and pattern number.

DECORATING THE HOME

By GERALDINE GREENE.

FURNITURE.

Think how elated you are when you put out a perfectly grand dinner for six in only an hour's time. But just think how proud you'll be of making what amounts to a brand-new chair in only an hour's time. The dinner is a great satisfaction, sure enough, but once it's eaten it's gone except for the memory and that comfortable feeling. However, that new chair will last and last and last... a visible example of your ingenuity and skill.

And how to go about it? Suppose you have a set of kitchen chairs that look just too awful to have around any longer. Don't throw them out—get to work on them. With a little patience and a willingness to follow directions on cans you can refinish them beautifully. Wash the surfaces clean, dry and sandpaper the glossy finish until it looks dull and smooth. Then comes the downright fun, the painting itself. With a good enamel you can't help having good results—the paint will flow on smooth, even and glossy. Experience isn't necessary, and it doesn't take a skillful hand to paint a chair. You can even put on those small finishing touches that mean so much—make the chair body one color, the rims and knobs a contrasting one. It's a simple process. Do the entire piece first in the principal color and let it dry. Then put on your other color touches with a small brush.

There is one point I forgot to mention. Place the chair upside down on a thick newspaper and do the underside first. If you try to do it last you'll find yourself practically standing on your head and you'll be dripping paint from fingers to shoulders.

You can do just so much with a paint brush and any one of a couple dozen good shades of enamel. You can match up odds and ends of unmatched tables, chairs, unmatched pieces of bedroom furniture, porch furniture, toys, bookcases... and on and on. As a matter of fact, I highly recommend these splashes of color in every room in the house. It's an inexpensive way of bringing life and charm into your home and let me repeat, and repeat again... color makes the home.

'YOUR FIGURE, MADAME!'
By IDA JEAN KAIN.

WALKING TIPS FROM THE MANNEQUINS.
A walk can be tailored, formal or sporty, to match the dress you are wearing. That idea may be new to you—it was to us—but it's an old story to successful mannequins, who regard the walk merely as a costume accessory.

The mannequin changes her step with her dress, and her walk is something for the rest of us to copy. Gertrude Mayer, one of the most famous of all the beautiful models, thinks that with practice any woman can acquire a walk that will dress up her clothes. You can't look "born to be a model" if you stride along in your formal gown. Instead of swinging along, learn to keep your shoulders firm and to walk from the hips with small, light steps.

Mannequins practice walking with the front knee stiff, pointing the toe down on a straight line. The forward foot bears the weight of the body as the other foot is poised on the ball. In turning, swing around and shift the weight to the back foot, slowly bringing the front foot close to the gait, Miss Mayer declares, and are awkward in comparison with the more skilled players.

For the girl with aspiration as a model, Miss Mayer thinks there is no training to excel that of fencing. Both modeling and fencing require definite poise of the body. In fencing, the shoulders are absolutely firm, the knees straight, and the motion of the body is from the waist down.

If you don't think this sport gives you a good figure, look at Miss Mayer's measurements: bust 35 inches, waist 24 inches, hips 35 inches. Should you lack the opportunity or inclination to fence regularly, there are a number of exercises for the development of bodily poise and grace.

WHAT HOLDS US MEN
BY PENRHYN STANLAWS

When expert, try it with hands crossed.

Here are two fairly strenuous exercises which, if practiced daily, will do a great deal for your walk:

No. 1—Sit down on the floor at the side of the feet, knees bent and feet back. Clasp the hands in front of the body. Holding the hands in this position, rise off the floor and sit down at the other side of the feet. Do not move the feet. Later, when you become expert at the exercise, try it with the clasped hands stretched overhead, sitting down first on one side of the feet and then the other.

No. 2—Support the weight on the palms of the hands and the heels, back toward floor and face to ceiling, body in a straight line. Keep the elbows straight, and the feet so that the body forms an angle with the floor. Kick alternate legs high in air.

About 20 times will be enough for each of these exercises, but you should do them night and morning.

Recovery in Compromised Cases Barred in Appellate Court Decision.

Fees paid J. W. Simmons of superior court in Fulton County cannot be recovered, the Georgia Court of Appeals held yesterday in an action brought by more than a dozen Atlanta firms.

"The arguments were made by the clerk voluntarily and under protest; they cannot be recovered here," the court said. "The lower court did not sustain the demurrer and the action."

Suit was originally filed by Atlanta Coach Company and 12 other firms in an effort to recover $100,000 of the $200,000 paid to the state in cases that had been compromised out of court. Simmons tended it was his duty to complete record of the case. His office was therefore entitled to the fees.

The Fulton superior court the action when it was first demurred but the plaintiffs carried it up to the appeals court where the lower court decision was affirmed. Then later, after a new hearing had been held, the court decided that the fees had already been paid the county treasurer and were not paid under force of the ruling. The plaintiffs were not entitled to receive them.

With this ruling in mind, the appeals then upheld the decision of the superior court. The case had been in progress three years.

Dorothy Page's Golden Miller fell back to joint second choice with Robert Lehman's American-owned Didoric at 100 to 8. H. Lloyd Thomas's Royal Mail was quoted at 13 to 1.

Second choice among the American entrants was J. B. Snow's Delachance at 100 to 6 followed by Snow's Delachance, 20 to 1. Frank M. Goff's What Have You, 35 to 1, and Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's Flying Minutes and Jesse Metcalfe's Kiltio, each 60 to 1.

OTHER ODDS.
15 to 1—Pucka Belle.
100 to 1—Don Bradman.
100 to 1—Spinald.
20 to 1—Kampanator II.
25 to 1—Ready Cash, Dean Crick, Dryburgh.
25 to 1—Kampanator, Milk Punch.
40 to 1—Dawson, Duckworth, Irvine.
50 to 1—Crown Prince, Uncle Batt.
60 to 1—Blaze.
80 to 1—Ruger Leaf.
100 to 1—Sun Spot II, Drim, Field Master, True Blue, Passing Fancy.

Muddy Track Has Experts Guessing.

AINTREE, England, March 18.—(P)—The stoutest-hearted horse in the world, including the great Golden Miller, snuggled into their hay here tonight for their final rest before the 90th running of the back-breaking grand national steeplechase.

Tomorrow, if today's miserable weather can be taken as any indication, they will be called upon to slip and slide around four and a half miles of the most treacherous jumping country ever devised by any mortal—with very few of them due to finish.

Bookmakers at the sudden track late today were willing to bet even money that less than half of the 33 scheduled starters would finish the 30 jumps and pass the finishing post. Awaiting the owner of the winner of this fantastic race, first run in 1839, was a purse of approximately $50,250 plus whatever he had risked at the current odds.

It was considered a wide-open race with any of the longshots as likely to win as the favorites. If anything the experts expected the odds to ease up before race time (about 10 a. m., eastern standard time).

Purple Track Team Meets Ramsey High

Boys' High's track team will clash with Ramsey High, of Birmingham, Ala., at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Henry Gray field.

This is the first dual meet of the year for the Purples, although they were entered in the recent Chapel Hill meet.

Captain Jack Clift, Byars Holloway, Morris Traylor, Lloyd Kimmel, Harold Saine, Albin Cowles, John Cottingham and Roy Goree are back from last year's team.

Promising newcomers include Charles Burnwell, Terrance Huck, Warren Gregory, Bill Peck, James Caldwell and Bill Sockwell.

Long Island Loses in Quarter-Finals

DENVER, March 18.—(P)—Crushing power carried the Denver Safeway to a decisive triumph over Long Island University in a quarter-final game of the national A. U. basketball tournament at tonight. The score was 49 to 26. The Hollywood Stars defeated Colorado Springs Anglers, 53 to 34.

Walter Hagen left for Australia "on the wagon." It will be interesting to watch him if he remains there. His putting, once the greatest thing about his golf game, went sour some time ago.

"Whisky fingers," said Hagen complacently. "But if it wasn't that I guess they'd be shaky from the strain of trying to sink putts all these years."

Hagen has been named captain of the Ryder cup team which will engage the English team in England late in June. He is expected to be a non-playing captain. But the Haig, who was almost open golf champion in 1935 when Sam Parks won at Oakmont, may come back as a player. They have counted the old boy out time after time. And usually, when the big test comes, he is somewhere around.

He rarely sleeps at tournaments. He gives the night clubs a great play and is attractive, interesting and popular. It was the Haig who broke down the caste rule which used to exclude professionals from the clubhouses in this country and in England.

If he remains on the wagon it will be interesting to see how those putting fingers act. Last year at Augusta he was up late night after night. They awoke him one morning at 7 o'clock to tell him the tournament was off because of weather.

"The tournament is off because of rain today, Haig," said the caller.

"What tournament?" said the Haig. He had arrived in the hay at 6 a. m.

He has made—and spent—a million dollars. And has no regrets.

HAGEN'S RECORD.

Hagen's record contains one feature which is even more remarkable than that of Bobby Jones or Lawson Little. He won the P. G. A. championship four times in succession. He added the British open four times and the national open twice. There are dozens of other titles.

But that winning four in a row from the professionals is one of the great records of golf. Lawson Little won four amateur championships in succession, two in England and two in America. But he dominated the field. There was no one quite close to him. And in the P. G. A. tournaments Hagen was in a field with Sarazen, Armour, Barnes, Runyan, Mehlhorn, Diegel and others of that caliber.

Naming Hagen captain of the Ryder cup team was not just a sentimental gesture. He merited it. He has captained the team in the past and played with them. And he knows the English courses. And England knows him.

HUTCHESON WANTS TO CATCH.

Joe Hutcheson, fondly referred to by the gals with whom he dances as "Old Anvil Foot," is reported to be fooling around with the idea he wants to be a catcher.

He figures perhaps his speed isn't enough for the outfield. But that his batting is valuable enough to keep him in baseball quite a while if he can find a spot where he is not supposed to be a gazelle for speed.

Before he left Memphis for the Cracker training camp, he was quoted as saying he believed he could catch. In fact, he was sure he could. And he was thinking of asking Eddie Moore for a try with the mitt and the windpad.

The Crackers, unfortunately for Joe Hutcheson, have the best Class A-1 catcher in baseball and the best Class B catcher in the league in Jim Galvin. It is a tough spot for a new man to attack.

But there is no getting around the fact that Joe Hutcheson can punish that baseball. In the major leagues they found out he couldn't hit anything but a fast ball. They gave him a diet of baseball pretzels. But down here the boys don't curve them so well that Joe Hutcheson can't straighten out a few of them.

There is some dispute as to how Big Joe earned his name of "Anvil Foot."

The original story is that a young lady with whom

ROOKIE HURLERS TO GET 3 POSTS, PILOT INTIMATES

Eddie May Stay Off
Squad To Give Rookies
Chance for 30 Days.

By Jack Troy.

PANAMA CITY, Fla., March 18.—What big Jim Lindsey described as the first ducking practice of the season will be held tomorrow.

With the arrival of Hugh Todd, rookie outfielder, tonight, the entire Cracker roster was completed and Manager Moore will go off the routine standard and let the boys hit for better than an hour. There are 40 players now in camp, not including Moore.

Moore worked out a schedule for the batters and the hitters and also outlined a plan whereby there could be some form of practice going on all the time, so that those not hitting would be getting in plenty of running.

Alex Hooks, the rangy first sacker, Joe Hutcheson, veteran outfielder, and Harry Laval, rookie infielder and son of Billy Laval, Emory and Henry coach, arrived in time today to take their first workout.

HILL ARRIVES.

Johnny Hill, of Douglasville, drove in just as the day's work was ending and got his locker in order. He wanted to drill today but Manager Eddie Moore told him there would be time enough for that.

Hill is in pretty good shape, as it is, following a winter of work in an Atlanta automobile plant.

In fact, one of the bright features of the Crackers' 1937 camp is the fact that the majority of the class men and rookies did report here in pretty good trim.

Take Paul Richards, for instance. He got in shape down in Panama and reported looking as if he could start catching right away. Which he could.

TEAM MEN.

Richards and Emil Leonard, the big, conscientious knuckle ball pitcher, are two of the finest team men you will find.

Manager Moore reiterated today that there is still an open spot in right field. He has never said anything to the contrary.

"Naturally," said Eddie, "I'll give big Joe a little preference since he is a veteran and has the experience. If he can come through, his power will be mighty useful."

But how could a manager say that a fellow has a job cinched when there are such fine-looking rookie outfielders out there battling for the job? McQuis, Pittman and Dewese are all good prospects. One of them may come through and make us a real man.

"No, sir, that right field job must be won. It's far from being cinched right now."

GIVE ROOKIES CHANCE.

"I want to get a good line on all of them so that I'll know where to place the ones that have to go to best advantage. There may not be a first before camp closes, or at least not until after a few exhibition games. And we don't have an exhibition game until Sunday week. One game won't determine anything."

Moore said he would, if necessary, or if everything worked out all right, stay off the active list for the first 30 days and give the rookies a chance.

"I won't do that, however, if I think I can be of use to the team. Before we want to get off to a good start in the pennant race. All those other teams are really going to be laying for us."

MOORE PLEASED.

Moore is highly pleased at the manner in which the workouts have been going. "Everything is dandy," he said. "We're getting the kind of weather that we need and are making some real progress."

Moore spent some time today working with Hugh Luby, the new second baseman. Luby was throwing the ball backhanded on double plays. And Moore got out there with him and

DIZZY SIGNS CONTRACT

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 18.—(Friday.)—(P)—Sam Bredson, president of the St. Louis Cardinals, early today said that Dizzy Dean had wired him he had signed his contract and would report for spring training today.

Bredson did not disclose the terms, although it is understood the Cardinals had offered Dean $24,000. Only last night the talkative, Dean, declaring he would not sign for less than $50,000, received word his application for voluntary retirement had been quickly approved when placed before Branch Rickey, vice president of the St. Louis Club.

DIZZY DEAN.

Mrs. Dean

'Happy About It.'

BRADENTON, Fla., March 19.—(P)—Mrs. Jerome Herman Dean said early today her husband had agreed to sign a St. Louis contract and felt "very happy" about it.

She said the fall right-handed pitcher could not come to the telephone and gave the information to inquirers herself.

Terms of the contract were not revealed. Mrs. Dean said Dizzy

Card's vice president, said the club had approved Dean's application for voluntary retirement.

Dean had said last night he was packing his clothes for a trip north to discuss other business arrangements at his retirement was approved.

Mrs. Dean said her husband was "well satisfied" with the contract terms. She said Dean would sign for one year.

It was understood Bredson offered Dean a $25,000 contract last week. Throughout his holdout, the talkative pitcher insisted he would not play baseball for less than $50,000.

"I am glad he will sign," Mrs. Dean declared. "Dizzy loves baseball and is lost without it."

She said "Old Diz" would go to Daytona Beach today to start spring training.

ALBANY SIGNS THREE.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 18.—(P)—Signing of three more players was announced today by Bill McCorty, manager of the Albany club of the New York-Pennsylvania baseball league.

'PRESSURE HURT US LAST YEAR,' SAYS JOE CRONIN

Practically Same Team Will Battle for Pennant for Gold Sox.

By Eddie Brietz.

SARASOTA, Fla., March 18.—(P)—Nothing less than a strong first division finish will satisfy young Joe Cronin and his gold-plated Boston Red Sox this season.

Cronin smiled his perk little smile today and predicted richer pickings for his million-dollar beauties who scammed off with almost all the consolation prizes in baseball last year.

"We couldn't do much worse," he said, "so what? We'll do a lot better—that's what."

"We were under tremendous pressure from the start last year. Everybody expected us to win in a gallop. It told on the team's play. It's removed now and all we have to do is go out there and play ball like I know we can."

Joe strings along with the Yankees to repeat, but he thinks his Sox may be the team to beat, even if they don't get hot themselves and go on to win. Last year the club into which Owner Tom Yawkey poured a fortune could do no better than a dismal sixth. But so sure are both Yawkey and Cronin that their 1936 flops are on a par with the best of the other clubs in the American league, they're going to stake their chances this year on virtually the same crew.

E. J. BLISS

the founder of the Regal Shoe Company, was the son of a New England shoe manufacturer. He is now Chairman of the Board, and his son, E. J. Bliss, Jr., is president of the Company today.

Same management for 44 years.

Regal Stores are located in all the principal cities from Coast to Coast.

Regal Shoe Factory located in Whitman, Mass., 25 miles from Boston, where skilled shoemaking is a proud heritage.

6 REASONS WHY

Regal gives greater value • more style • better service

In 1893, E. J. Bliss, founder of this Company, conceived the idea of selling Regal Shoes direct from Factory to Consumer—One Quality—One Price—with only One Profit—from Maker to Wearer. And this policy has remained unchanged, under the same management, for 44 years.

Today, we purchase the finest leathers from the world's best Tanners—make our shoes in our own Factory with the most skilled craftsmen in old New England, and ship direct to our own stores located in the principal cities from coast to coast.

Our style policy for the last 44 years has been to reproduce in our Factory the new styles introduced by the greatest Custom Bootmakers in the world. And this year we are reproducing the expensive, hand-made models designed by Wylie & Peterson, leading Custom Bootmakers of New York.

Another reason of great importance to you, is our Fitting Service. The new scientific RESCO Twin-Foot Measuring Machine, which we own exclusively, represents an investment of more than $100,000 in Comfort for you. At your service in all Regal stores.

Joe Rabbit---He Missed
His Train by a Hair
The Ball Players Start Talking at Panama City
—It Comes Out Here!

By Jack Troy.

PANAMA CITY, Fla., March 18.—"There used to be an outfielder named Joe Rabbit with San Antonio. Ever hear of him?" asked Big Jim Lindsey.

Lou Garland said he thought he had heard of a Rabbit who played in-field. John Michaels passed.

"Well, sir, there was a character. Joe Rabbit had the reputation of being slightly slug-nutty, as he had been a fighter of parts in his day. "Joe was a rabid reader of those western blood-and-thunder novels. He'd bury his nose in a magazine and, except for taking an occasional swipe at his nose with his thumb and snorting like a Jersey bull—you've seen old prize fighters do that—he'd be quiet as a church mouse."

"It happened one day at the station. The club was waiting for the train. Joe began reading. He walked up and down the platform and jabbed at his nose which he practically had buried in the thriller. The train came in and Joe kept on reading. And as the train pulled out, Joe might as well have been miles away. He didn't know it until it was almost out of the station."

"He looked up, jabbed at his nose, snorted and started running. But he couldn't catch that train."

Garland and Michaels looked at each other rather questioningly.

"When he got his breath, Joe went back to the station and wired the manager at the next stop," Jim continued.

"Please send transportation, missed train by hair. Rabbit."

"Don't Tell Me; Let Me Have It."

"I well remember the time, since we are speaking of such things, that I got my release," spoke up Lindsey a bit later.

"This manager came up to me and said, 'Jim, this is the hardest thing a manager has to do.'"

"Don't tell me," I said. "Just give it to me."

"I got a trial with another club to pitch batting practice. Before I went out there I put plenty of that hot stuff on my arm. I pitched just three balls and the manager said, 'Okay, that's enough. You pitch tomorrow.'"

"I bathed my arm in hot stuff and pitched a shutout. And the next time out, I pitched another shutout. You can't beat that hot stuff."

"The manager approached me afterwards and said, 'By the way, you haven't signed a contract.'"

"By the way," I said right back. "I haven't. It will cost you just

Lindsey, Galvin Sign Contracts

PANAMA CITY, Fla., March 18.—Jim Lindsey and Jim Galvin conferred with President Earl Mann and signed their 1937 contracts tonight.

Neither was closeted with Mann for very long, and they said afterwards they were satisfied with terms.

Alex Hooks, the lone unsigned player, and President Earl Mann, after listening to Bob Burns for an hour, had little time left to discuss Hooks' contract.

They went into a short huddle and Hooks apparently decided to sleep over terms offered.

The contract talks they began tonight is expected to be carried to a successful conclusion tomorrow. They are not believed to be so very far apart.

$1,500 to get me on the line. "Well, he moaned a lot but finally agreed to my terms."

They Were Careful About John King.

"That puts me in mind," responded Lou Garland, "of the way managers handled John King when they were ready to give him his release. They couldn't walk up and give it to him because he wouldn't take it."

"One manager had a room above John. He called him up and told him to look out the window. Then he lowered his release on a piece of

Southern Pilots Seek A National Talent '37 Pennant Race

CRACKERS NEED FEWER PLAYERS THAN THE REST

Moore Admits, However, He Wants a Clouting Outfielder, Infielder.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 18.—(AP)—Unlike Joe McCarthy and his New York Yankees, Southern association pilots need additional talent before they are willing to toe the mark for the annual pennant derby.

The skippers, at least, made known some of their wants in answer to a wire from Blinkey Horn, sports editor of the Tennesseean.

Some of them seem to need a ball club, while others feel that they'll be set with a string pitcher here and a dependable fielder there.

Larry Gilbert, New Orleans—An infielder (he said he'd made known more about that later).

Neil Caldwell, Knoxville—At least an outfielder to replace Marshall Mauldin, 37th hitter of last season.

Doe Prothro, Little Rock—A catcher, second baseman and pitcher, preferably another Kola Sharpe for the latter spot.

Clyde Milan, Chattanooga—A whole new infield and a pitching staff (page Mr. Clark Griffith).

Bill Southworth, Memphis—A catcher and pitchers (just like the rest, it seems), shortstop and a catcher.

instructed him to toss underhanded to me Buster Chatham.

Luby looks awfully good on the basis of the early workouts, Moore thinks.

The pitchers continue to run until they see stars in the blue Florida sky at midday.

PLENTY FUNGO HITTING.

Moore and Pee Green are wielding wicked fungoes. Moore believes in having the pitchers start the season with their legs in shape.

Of course, the rest of the squad is not being neglected. Moore worked the infielders, catchers and outfielders as hard as the rest.

On account of all the rookie pitchers of promise, Moore may determine before camp ends to retain only five Class A pitchers and carry three rookies on the staff of eight.

He said as much today. But only time will tell. He won't know much about how the pitching situation shapes up until the hurlers start throwing curves and really bearing down. A sore arm or two may develop that will change all plans.

GOOD CATCHERS.

Moore is satisfied right now that the catching staff will remain the same as last year, with Paul Richards as the No. 1 receiver and Jim Galvin in reserve.

Moore went out golfing after practice, while those of the players who didn't go to bed—there are some weary men in camp right now—look a ding at fishing.

CASSIDY AND LEE BATTLE TONIGHT

Mike Cassidy, about the wildest and roughest light-heavyweight to appear hereabouts in many months, will meet Chin Lee, fast-stepping Chinese wrestler, in one of three feature mat attractions at the North Side arena tonight, beginning at 8:15.

Cassidy is the same stormy warrior who pinned three men by himself in an hour match after the local and the popular local star in a non-title match. He hopes to land a championship bout with Tarzan if he can chin Chin Lee tonight.

Red Smith, of Dallas, Texas, who is unbeaten here, having taken three opponents in stride, draws Don Jose, turbulent Mexican grappler, in another match that promises stirring action.

Paddy Nolan, a master showman, who adores calling himself the "Irish Killer," is paired off with Joe Wheeler, an aggressive matman from Kentucky, in the third bout of the all-star program.

It is a show that should please every type of mat fan. Promoters Roby and Bettis rate this card with the best of the season.

Compete in Exhibition Shoot

Harry Harkins, left, and Luther McDonald, Atlanta's junior skeet stars, are shown with a few of the trophies won in the state, southern, and national skeet championships, during the past two years. These two youngsters will compete in a special exhibition team shoot Sunday at the West End Gun Club.

Juniors Will Feature Exhibition Team Shoot

Compete With Pro and All-Star Teams at West End Gun Club Sunday.

By Clint Davis.

Next Sunday afternoon the West End Gun Club will be the scene of a concentrated attempt to end the "reign of terror" in Atlanta skeet shooting circles. For the past three months a two-man gang has "muscled in" on two-thirds of all prizes awarded during weekly shoots.

Harry Harkins and Luther McDonald, Atlanta's nationally known junior gunners, have ceased to be mere contenders in these events. One of these junior marksmen have either won or tied for first place in seven out of the last 10 events at the West End Club. In two of these programs, young Harkins and McDonald have finished in the top three.

The team races will get under way at 3 p. m., and club officials have extended an invitation to the public as no charges will be made for spectators.

BOYS ISSUE CHALLENGE.

Recently the boys issued a challenge to shoot a 50-bird match with any two-man adult team in the city. Two teams, composed of some of the south's best skeet shots, have accepted the challenge and the matches will be the feature of a special program at the West End Club on Sunday.

The team races will get under way at 3 p. m., and club officials have extended an invitation to the public as no charges will be made for spectators.

One of the teams attempting to scalp the juniors will be formed by the Duke, 1936 southern skeet champion, and Dr. LeRoy Childs, captain of the Duke's team, who won the 1936 southern team championship. Dr. Childs is probably the most consistent shot in the city at the present time. He is always a dangerous competitor. Duke, an official of the West End Club, is always a high scorer, winning the southern championship last year with the near-perfect score of 99-100.

The next team will be an all-professional aggregation with Buddy Jones and Abe Moore teamed together as the best professional pair in the section. Moore holds the 1936 southern professional championship. Jones, holder of a world's skeet record, former All-American and southern champion, is probably the most colorful skeet shooter in the south. In 1935 he was rated as the best pro shot in America.

HARKINS JUNIOR CHAMP.

Young Harkins, a freshman at Boys' High, is 16 years of age. He holds both the Dixie and Georgia state junior championships. McDonald, a sophomore at Fulton High and only 14 years of age, is only a few inches taller than the automatic which he so expertly handles.

Both boys have competed in state, southern and national events, and are training their sights on the 1937 national skeet championship in the hopes of bringing the national junior championship title to Atlanta. Both youngsters are fine sportsmen and are being trained by their father, Harry Harkins, who is a professional skeet shooter.

BREAK O' DAY

Joe Hutcheson was dancing in Memphis years before he met Missus Hutcheson, referred to him in that fashion after the dance was over.

Another yarn was, he got the name because he picked his feet up and put them back down with no more speed than if they had been anvils.

Our Mr. Jack Troy, who is doing his usual excellent job of covering the baseball news for Constitution readers, was asked to keep an eye on this young Hugh Luby, who is to play at second base, and see what sort of a combination he'd make with Buster Chatham.

Mr. Troy has obtained an interview with Buster Chatham as follows:

"His speed is really going to help out on double plays," Buster said today.

"Nig (Nig Lipscomb) was just a bit slow. But he could make the plays because he had a great throwing arm."

"I'm sure glad Luby is as fast as he is because I know that we can really work together on those double plays. He can move faster to the right, and that helps a lot."

Buster ventured the opinion that Lipscomb, because of his lack of speed, would not stick at second base with the Browns.

"I think they'll shift him to third base. Nig has played on the left hand side of the infield before. He was once a shortstop."

"And I think he really could go at third base, because he's got a great arm."

"Hornby is going to like Lipscomb, because he's a big, powerful right-handed hitter like Hornby was in his playing days," Buster said.

All of which sounds fine for the Crackers and Nig Lipscomb, a great boy.

COX-STRAFACI WIN IN UPSET

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 18. (UP)—Wiffy Cox, Washington pro, and his little partner, Frank Strafaci, of Brooklyn, N. Y., turned the tables one of the leading favorites of the national amateur pro championship today.

Cox and Strafaci combined a best-ball score to the loss of Tony Manero, United States open champion, and his talented amateur partner, Morton McCarthy, of Norfolk, Va., by one up after a 20-hole battle that equaled Gen. Sarazen's win of this morning's round. Both pairs shattered par with 66's for the eighteen.

This afternoon's round saw in addition the loss of Tony Manero, the humbling of such greats of the game as Johnny Farrell, Johnny Repta and Jimmy Thompson. All three had been favored to come through the mill today.

The fast pace of this year's competition has kept most of the contestants in the 60's with Ralph Guldahl and Al Ulmer, Jacksonville, combined to break the best-ball record for this course this morning with a 62.

Par is 72. Guldahl's individual score of 84 was also a record-breaker.

Sarazen, former British and American champion, and Mally Reynolds, Jacksonville, lost to the defending champion, defeated Mike Turnesa and Robert Raymond, earlier today, 1 up after 23 holes in a first-round match.

Other scores: Red Smith and Lowry defeated Johnny Farrell-Whitney Curtis, 2 up.

Byronne and Lowry defeated Jimmy Thompson-Bobby Dock, 1 up.

INSURGENT HOSPITAL ROCKED BY 5 BLASTS

Insurgents' Big Guns Shell City; Loyalists Suffer Infantry Losses.

MADRID, March 18.—(AP)—Attacking under heavy artillery fire, government troops fought furiously today in an attempt to drive barricaded insurgents from the University City sector of Madrid.

Expanding fire mines under clinical hospital, held by the insurgents, government infantrymen suffered heavy casualties as they pushed forward against fortified outposts.

Insurgents swung their big guns into action, shells exploding in Madrid and wounding several persons.

The battle fighting progressed in this sector, with government troops reported to have strengthened their positions around the hospital, word of a new insurgent drive in Cordoba province near Pozoblanco reached Madrid commanders.

Government infantrymen battled a drive by insurgents to reach the rich mercury mines near Almaden, the advice said. Hand-to-hand fighting ensued while government planes kept up a machine gun attack on insurgent lines.

The government announced a defense shift had been driven across to Pajares and Solanillo, south and east of Brihuega, halting an insurgent advance.

General Jose Maja, commander-in-chief of Madrid's defenses, announced his troops had captured Moranchel, approximately 20 miles northeast of the city of Guadalajara and near Brihuega.

Driving on from Moranchel, government forces were reported to have captured strategic hills overlooking Brihuega, 20 miles east-northeast of the city of Guadalajara.

REFUGEES REPORT VILLA CISNEROS TAKEN

DAKAR, Senegal, March 18.—(AP)—Refugees reaching Dakar tonight from Spain's West African colony of Rio de Oro, reported forces loyal to the Madrid-Valencia government revolted against insurgent domination and captured the capital, Villa Cisneros.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(AP)—President Manuel Quezon, of the Philippine commonwealth and government officials agreed today on terms of a proposal to advance the date for complete Philippine independence from 1946 to either 1938 or 1939.

Quezon and Sayre in a joint statement said the plan contemplated a trade agreement to succeed the independence act.

Quezon said congressional action would be sought early in the next session.

POLICE ARE BAFFLED BY DEATH OF WOMAN

NEW YORK, March 18.—(UP)—The mystery of how Mrs. Hazel E. Gore, 40-year-old former New Orleans woman, was killed in Brooklyn Wednesday night, baffled police tonight after they had questioned a man suspected of having run down the woman by automobile.

The man who gave his name as Abbott Robinson, 42, a negro, was released after several hours.

Police said there was no indication she had been killed by the car. The body was identified by fingerprints, on file at police headquarters.

As a result of the woman's arrest in New Orleans in June, 1921, Police sought to contact relatives in St. Paul, Minn., where she was born.

UNDERWOOD WAS UPHELD BY COURT OF APPEALS

Federal Judge E. Marvin Underwood was the second judge involved in the legal tangle over TVA work in Georgia, refusing to grant a dismissal asked by the Georgia Power Company of a previous suit to the one involved in the Gore decision. It was this ruling which the circuit court of appeals in New Orleans upheld.

Judge Underwood, by refusing dismissal, retained jurisdiction in the case within the district in which the litigation was first brought. The Atlanta jurist had refused an injunction to the power company, which then joined with 18 other companies in obtaining the order against the TVA from the Georgia court.

The Atlanta court and pointed out that Gore had assumed jurisdiction belonging to the Atlanta court under the first suit brought by the power company against the Georgia Power Company.

Underwood's decision through the medium of a court holding the same status as the local court.

THREE OF FAMILY KILLED IN BLAST

This Is Worst I've Ever Known, Says 54-Year-Old Father.

NEW LONDON, Texas, March 18.—(AP)—Three of Joe Davidson's four children were killed in the London Consolidated school blast.

"This is the worst I have ever known," said the 54-year-old World War aviator and holder of the Croix de Guerre.

Planes twice were shot down under him during the war.

Atlanta Negro Plays For President Today

Graham Jackson, famous Atlanta negro pianist and President Roosevelt's "favorite entertainer," will make his nineteenth appearance before the President, his family and government officials tomorrow night when the President is entertained at the Callaway estates, near Warm Springs.

Amateur Reporters Enjoy Tipping Photo Tip Editor To Good Pictures

$5 Reward for Best Information To Be Paid Each Week; Everybody Eligible in Contest; Merits of Picture Base for Award.

Every Atlanta reporter. That seems to be the slogan now, as scores of telephone calls to the Photo Tip Editor of the Constitution were received yesterday and last night.

All day long and well into the night, the Photo Tip Editor was receiving calls. And why not? Those tips might mean five dollars.

For the idea, of course, is that the Photo Tip Editor will pay that sum each week to the telephone caller whose tip results in the best news picture of the week.

It's a new and fascinating game, this one of playing reporter, and has caught the interest of the entire city. The scores of calls to the Photo Tip Editor, who was plenty busy taking them down, testified to that.

If you haven't joined in the game, get in it now. You need no journalism training or experience. Just telephone to the Photo Tip Editor about anything you think might make a good, live news picture.

The enthusiasm and response from players in the game resulted in three pictures in The Constitution this morning. So you can readily see, there's no trick to it.

And, to repeat, it may put a five dollar bill into your pocket. Just telephone the Photo Tip Editor at Walnut 6566.

The cash awards will be made each week. They will be based solely on the merits of the picture which resulted from the tip to the Photo Tip Editor. The pictures will be studied carefully, and the best of the week will mean just that.

Men, women, children—everyone is eligible.

Here's another point about this interesting game. Just to keep the records straight, and so that fairness will be assured, if the prize-winning picture results from a tip phoned in by one or more persons, the person who first phoned in the tip will be declared winner.

Business Recovery In Progress Parade

Federal Board Reports Bank Reserves Increase.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(AP)—The Federal Reserve Board reports today a $70,000,000 increase in member bank reserves during the week ended March 17.

The increase lifted banks' supply of idle funds to $1,450,000,000 since March 1.

These reserves provide the basis for credit expansion, and the supply thus has an important effect upon interest rates.

Railroad Concerns Expect Large Earnings.

NEW YORK, March 18.—(AP)—Railroads operating in the Ohio river valley virtually have recovered from the recent flood, presidents of two of the lines said today.

"That means we are getting back to normal," said one of the presidents. "In fact, loadings this month are about 5,000 cars a day, almost exactly what we were carrying from October to the time of the floods."

W. H. Harbar, president of the Chesapeake & Ohio, said his road would have substantial net earnings this month.

Cash Register Company Shows Profit on Stock.

NEW YORK, March 18.—(AP)—Net income of National Cash Register Company for 1936 was reported today at $2,865,341, equal to $1.76 a share on the common stock. In 1935 net income totaled $1,520,409, or 92 cents a share.

Consolidated net sales, after deducting repossessions, amounted to $42,977,337, an increase of 22 per cent over the previous year. Overhead sales accounted for approximately 41 per cent of the total.

Wages Are Increased By Waycross Factory.

WAYCROSS, Ga., March 18.—The Rubin Brothers shoe factory here today announced an increase of 10 per cent in minimum wages, effective March 15, in all departments.

In addition to the increase in minimum wages, adjustments are to be made in other wages, some of which will bring increases in wages as high as 20 per cent.

The general increase in wages will mean an addition to the factory pay roll of approximately $25,000 a year.

Berg and Bourne Clash in Finals

AIKEN, S. C., March 18.—(AP)—Patty Berg, red-haired Minneapolis school girl, and Barbara Bourne, New York, advanced to the finals today in the first annual Aiken women's golf tournament.

Miss Berg eliminated another seasoned veteran, Jane Cochran, of Greenville, S. C., 4 and 2, in their semi-finals match today, while Miss Bourne fought off the challenge of youthful Grace Amory, of Long Island, N. Y., to win, 2 and 1.

The 18-hole final will be played tomorrow over the trap-studded Highland Park course.

COST OF WELFARE SAID 7.9 PER CENT

County Auditor Reports To Relief Investigations on Administration Costs.

Overhead cost of operating the Fulton Department of Public Welfare to the city and county is only 7.9 per cent of the money donated by the city and county, James L. Respass, county auditor, told the special relief investigation committee last night.

Respass said overhead varies with the amount of contributions. It was estimated that the overhead cost would be 11 per cent with the addition of government contributions for salaries and surplus food commodities.

Frank Miller, executive director of the welfare department, was also questioned last night.

Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, chairman, said the committee hopes to complete its exhaustive investigation at a meeting at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon at the city hall.

WATCH YOUR HUSBAND'S WEIGHT

Insurance Companies warn about the dangers of overweight. For they have definitely proved that overweight places too much of a load on the heart, so often associated with such diseases as diabetes and kidney trouble—and shortens the normal span of life. Gehrig Quits Holdout Ranks; Will Sign for $36,000, Bonus

FIGURE AMOUNTS
IS DUE SATURDAY

Pitcher Red Ruffing Only Yankee Still Out of Fold.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 18.—(P)—Lou Gehrig and the New York Yankees split their salary differences today bringing the durable first baseman into the fold for $36,000 wages plus $750 for signing his contract.

Gehrig and the Yankees got together this morning. In a long distance telephone conversation with Joe McCarthy, Yankee manager, the veteran first baseman who has played upwards of 1,800 ball games for the New York club without a miss since replacing Wally Pipp in 1925, came to terms after only brief haggling.

Gehrig first demanded a two-year contract calling for $40,000 per season. Advised by McCarthy that both the $40,000 and the two-year contract were out, he trimmed his demands to $37,500. The club had offered him $36,000.

MCCARTHY'S REQUEST.
At the request of McCarthy, Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees who is vacationing here during the spring training season, agreed to split the difference.

Gehrig will sign for $36,000 when he arrives here Saturday morning and will receive Colonel Ruppert's personal check for $750 as a gift for signing the one-year document.

The Yankees now have only one holdout problem—Red Ruffing, the big righthander who won 20 games last year.

Colonel Ruppert has offered Ruffing $15,000, an increase of $3,000 over his 1936 salary. Ruffing, while satisfied with the $15,000 for his pitching, is demanding $1,000 more for his pinch-hitting.

$15,000 IS TOPS.

"If Ruffing wants to pitch for me he can sign his contract for $15,000," Colonel Ruppert said today while watching the Yankees defeat the Cincinnati Reds for their fourth straight exhibition victory. "He won't sign for $15,000. And no more presents (referring to the $750 Gehrig will receive for signing)."

"Yes, I know he won 20 ball games for us last season," the Colonel added, "but he had a mighty good ball club behind him. The pitching staff looks pretty good as it is and if we have to we'll get along without Ruffing."

"And we'll win the pennant again by 10 ball games."

Gehrig will leave New York tonight and will arrive here Saturday morning at 8 a. m.

Ruffing, in his Illinois home, has indicated that he will stay there until the club meets his demands.

Beau Bell Signs With Browns.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 18.—(P)—Donald Barnes, president of the St. Louis American league baseball club, said today Beau Bell, Brown's outfielder who had been listed as a holdout, signed his contract this morning. Terms were not disclosed but various observers guessed the new contract called for about $7,500.

CAPTAINS 'CATORS.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., March 18.—(P)—Steve O'Connell, hard-hitting, 165-pounder, is captain of the University of Florida's 1938 boxing team. A finalist in the southeastern conference championship in New Orleans recently, O'Connell lost only one fight during the season.

Bill Beckman Oils Up His Glove

Bill Beckman, new Cracker pitcher purchased from Knoxville, is shown oiling up his glove at the Panama City training camp. He expects to win 20 games for the Crackers this year. This is the first picture showing what the new Cracker looks like in his Cracker uniform.

MOBILE, Ala., March 18.—(P)—Mobile's entry in the Southeastern baseball league has a name, but thus far lacks a manager and six more players to make up its first nine. The team will go under the name of Skip-pers.

FLASHES— From Baseball Camps

RED SOX NEE TRAVELERS.
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 18.—(P)—Doc Prothro was beginning to wonder today whether he was managing the Little Rock Travelers or the Boston Red Sox.

Some 50 Sox farm hands reported to the Travelers Boss for spring training to be held simultaneously with the Little Rock drills.

The Boston contingent is composed of players ranging from sandlotters to Class B performers. Little Rock will have first call on all talent in the camp.

GIANTS BEAT CARDS, 12-4.
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 18.—(P)—The New York Giants clubbed Lou Warneke for six runs in the first inning today and trounced the St. Louis Cardinals, 12 to 4, in the rubber game of their exhibition series.

A hit batsman, base on balls and six singles brought in the opening frame tallies, after which the Giants landed on Bob Weiland for three runs in the fifth, including Burgess Whitehead's homer, and on Ira Smith for two in the sixth and another in the eighth to complete their scoring.

Score by innings:
New York (N) 000 002 010—12 18 3
St. Louis (S) 000 010 120—4 11 1
Melton, Gumbert, McKel and Spencer; Warneke, Weiland, I. Smith, McGee and Owen, Cervino.

YANKEES BEAT REDS, 3-1.
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 18.—(P)—Although held to three hits by a trio of rookie hurlers, the New York Yankees defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 3 to 1, in a Grapefruit league game today.

They needed none of their three hits to score a run in the fourth, Ernie Koy going to first on a walk, advancing on an error and coming home on a fielder's choice.

Score by innings:
Cincinnati (N) 000 000 100—1 6 1
New York (A) 000 100 023—3 3 0
Grissom, L. Moore, Fossel and Davis; Lombardi; Malone, Hadley, Murphy and Glenn.

FELLER, INDIAN BEAT PELS, 7-0.
NEW ORLEANS, La., March 18.—(P)—With Bob Feller, Willis Hudlin and Ivy Paul Andrews on the mound, the Cleveland Indians handed the New Orleans Pelicans their fourth consecutive exhibition defeat today, 7-0.

Feller allowed one hit and fanned five batters in the three innings he worked. The lone hit was off an experimental slow ball. He issued two bases on balls. Observers said his speed ball was all that had been claimed for it.

Score by innings:
New Orleans 000 000 000—0 4 2
Cleveland 010 010 114—7 10 0
Osborne, Wallis, Vamick and George; Feller, Hudlin, Andrews and Becker.

RECRUITS BEAT REGULARS.
AYALON, Cal., March 18.—(P)—Although they made only two hits off a pair of rookie pitchers, the Chicago Cubs recruits scored their second straight training camp victory over the regulars, 2 to 1.

Al Epperly did not give the varsity a hit in his three innings, and Wes Flowers yielded only two over the same route. The lone run was scored off Flowers with the aid of a two-base wild throw by Linus Frey. Bill Lee and Clyde Shotton, who pitched for the rookies, gave up two hits each.

WHITEHEAD DISPLAYS STUFF.
PASADENA, Cal., March 18.—(P)—John Whitehead, the problem child of the Chicago White Sox hurling corps, gave an impressive display of stuff today during a long batting drill.

Whitehead, who won eight straight victories at the start of his freshman year, gave the hitters all kinds of trouble.

PIRATE OUTFIELD STRONG.
SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., March 18.—(P)—Take it from Al Todd, the Pittsburgh Pirates will be well up in the running this year in the National league race.

The big Pirate catcher says he believes Manager "Pie" Traynor has as good an outfit as there is in the circuit—even without Paul Waner, the league's No. 1 batter last year, who is still a holdout.

GRIMES NAMES LINEUP.
CLEARWATER, Fla., March 18.—(P)—Burleigh Grimes, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, today named the lineup he will start against the Philadelphia Athletics, and indicated it may be the 1937 Brooklyn regular batting list. The team is: First baseman, Buddy Hassett; second, Cookie Lavagetto, obtained from Pittsburgh; shortstop, Rookie Tony Malinsky; third, Joe Stripp, National league's best at his position in 1936; outfield, Heinie Manush, debuting in the National league; Rookie Jackie Winslet and Holdover Eddie Wilson; catcher, Babe Phelps; Roy Henshaw, Harry Eisenstat and Luke Hamlin will divide the pitching assignment against the Phils.

BELL WORKS WITH BROWNS.
SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 18.—(P)—"Beau" Bell, Brownie slugger, joined his St. Louis American league mates in practice here today, his career as a holdout at an end.

Bell appears to be not far off from condition. He went through the two-hour cage hitting session and between times at bat played shortstop, showing good form and plenty of speed.

TIGERS MAY GET W. FERRELL.
LAKELAND, Fla., March 18.—(P)—The bad news that Tommy Bridges, dependable right-hander, may start the season in a hospital revived rumors today that the Detroit Tigers were angling for Wes Ferrell, temperamental pitching star of the Boston Red Sox.

Bridges had been bothered by a pain in his groin since a workout yesterday and today he consulted a physician, who told him he was suffering from a hernia. Manager Mickey Cochrane ordered a further examination by another physician, and if the diagnosis is confirmed he will pack the slender

Shikat Meets Brown On Mat Here Tonight

Dick Shikat, of Philadelphia, twice heavyweight wrestling champion of the world, will be out to protect a record of never having been beaten in the south when he goes against Missouri's Orville Brown in the headliner of Frank Speer's show at the Atlanta theater tonight.

Shikat, as a result of an extraordinary bit of matchmaking by Speer, is replacing Everett Marshall on tonight's show. Marshall is lying in a Kansas City hospital still champion, but seriously injured from a savage match with Lee Wycoff Tuesday night.

Shikat not only has never lost a match in the south during the 10 or more years he has been jumping into Dixie for matches, but he has dropped only four bouts during all that time. And he has beaten them all, at one time or another. His latest victims were Danno O'Mahoney and Jim McMillan.

It is interesting, too, that neither Marshall nor Dean Detton, the other title claimant, have found it convenient to meet Shikat since they got on top. They don't seem to want any part of this great wrestler, who first won the title in a big tournament in which he beat all the contenders, and after losing his crown to London, recaptured it by taking O'Mahoney.

Orville Brown, while disappointed over not being able to get another crack at Marshall, will gain every bit as much prestige by beating Shikat as by toppling Marshall. In fact, Shikat is recognized as a far smoother, cleverer wrestler than either Brown or Marshall, and only Orville's strength and his dogged courage can carry him through to victory tonight in a 90-minute match that promises to be the last word in scientific grappling.

Lou Plummer, once a star attraction in Atlanta, returns after several years' absence to meet Frank Brown, fast-improving young brother of Orville, in the semi-final. Plummer, former Notre Dame tackle, is one of the ranking villains in the game and will Bridges off to Miami for an operation.

The coincidence of a surprise visit from Tom Yawkey, Red Sox owner, fanned the fires of gossip over a possible trade through which Detroit would acquire Ferrell. With Bridges out, the Tigers would be left with only one top-flight campaigner, Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, and the Schoolboy is slow to round into mid-season form.

BEES BEAT PHILS, 6 TO 1.
WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 18.—(P)—The Boston Bees capitalized on the weakness of Claude Passeau and Hugh Mulcahy to defeat the Phillies in their camp exhibition baseball opener today, 6 to 1.

YAWKEY, COLLINS WATCH DRILL.
SARASOTA, Fla., March 18.—(P)—Owner Tom Yawkey and his general manager, Eddie Collins, checked in at the Red Sox training camp today in time to attend the long batting drill that comprised most of Manager Joe Cronin's practice schedule.

The Red Sox officials appeared to be greatly impressed by several of the rookies who batted against Jack Wilson and Ted Olson. Cronin and most of the other regulars faced off against Fritz Ostermueller and Dick Midkiff.

ONLY THREE VOLS ABSENT.
TALLAHASSEE, Fla., March 18.—(P)—Jack Ridings, rookie infielder, arrived in the training camp of the Nashville Vols today, leaving only three men absent as the first week's drills neared a close.

Manager Lance Richbourg said the first game Saturday would be between two squads of players, with everybody getting a chance to show their ability. He added regular-yannigan games would start Tuesday.

FLORSHEIM Quality

THE ACKNOWLEDGED STANDARD OF FINE SHOE VALUE

YOU GET THE EXTRA WEAR OF A SECOND PAIR

LEADER—principal, or most eminent; most distinguished, having most or leading influence; foremost in place and importance . . . in short, FLORSHEIM

It isn't enough to say a shoe is fine . . . the quality must be there to make it live up to the claim. Florsheims live up to their name as the finest shoes in their grade because for nearly half a century quality has been our watchword, care our keynote, and still the pride of every craftsman in our ranks. Every shoe we make is designed to meet some one customer's individual need . . . and made so well he knows no other shoe will do. Year after year our customers come back because they've found that Florsheim Shoes are even finer than we claim . . . finer in fit, finish, workmanship, and materials. They've found, too, that the Florsheim premium of the extra wear of a second pair makes their shoe bills less in the end. It's no wonder that today Florsheim quality is the acknowledged standard of fine shoe value.

TOUGH WHISKERS LOSE THEIR "STARCH"

when soaked with Williams

PAUL RUNYAN, former U. S. Professional Golf Champion, has this to say about Williams: "I've tried 'em all and come back to Williams every time. It's the one shaving cream that honestly takes the toughness out of my beard in a hurry."

"Twin-Action" Shaving Cream Softens Up Your Skin—Makes Tough Beards Easy to Cut

IS your morning shave a mild form of torture? Do tough whiskers make your razor catch and scrape? Then switch to Williams "Twin-Action" Shaving Cream! You'll find that Williams knocks the "starch" stiffness out of whiskers. Its thick, rich lather cuts right through the oily film on your face—drenches each whisker down to the base—softens your scaly outer skin. Off come those wilted whiskers, quickly, smoothly. Top off every shave with cool, refreshing Aqua Velva. Closes pores . . . fights off sore spots.

UPSETS FEATURE BEST BALL MEET

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 18.—(P)—Upsets took a heavy toll of favorites today in the first round of the $3,000 national amateur professional best-ball golf tournament.

Shoved out of the running along with their amateur partners were such campaigners as Tony Manero, national open champion; Sam Snead, a sensation of the winter tour; Johnny Farrell, former open titleholder; Johnny Revolta, one-time P. G. A. king; Jimmy Thompson, the long-driving Shawnee, Pa. player; Mike Turnesa; Gene Kunes, and Harold McSpaden.

Gene Sarazen, of Brookfield Center, Conn., and Mally Renolds, of Jacksonville, victors last year, needed 23 holes to out Mike Turnesa and his amateur teammate, Robert Raymond, of New York.

The 16 surviving combinations will be trimmed to the semi-finalists in two "sudden death" rounds tomorrow.

Professional members of winning teams included Byron Nelson, of Redding, Pa., who scored an ace yesterday; Horton Smith, of Chicago; Denney Shute, P. G. A. champion; Victor Ghezzi, of Deal, N. J.; Willie MacFarlane, of New York; Wiffy Cox, of Washington; Harry Cooper, of Chicago; Ky Laffoon, of Orlando; Jimmy Hines, of Garden City, N. Y.; and Henry Picard, of Hershey, Pa.

S. E. C. COACHES ON VACATION

SARASOTA, Fla., March 18.—(UP)—Two-score southeastern football coaches and sports writers to-night limbered up golfing and fishing tackle for a four-day fishing vacation, which begins next Sunday.

Invitations were sent all Southeastern conference coaches. Those accepting were:

Frank Thomas, Hank Crisp and Jeff Coleman, Alabama; Harry Mehre and Herman Stegeman, Georgia; Bill Alexander, Georgia Tech; Bob Neyland, Tennessee; Paul Parker, Mississippi State; Lowell Dawson and Ray Danber, Tulane; Josh Cody, Percy Beard, Ran Dixon and Lewie Hargade, Florida, and Eddie Floyd, Loyola.

Dr. Richard Foster, University of Alabama president, also was in the party.

Included in the entertainment will be fishing, golf, a baseball game and a football game.

TARZAN'S QUEST No. 77

Next day, as his warriors took their midday rest, Tarzan squatted at the base of a tree fashioning arrows for his quiver. Little Nikma perched on one of his shoulders, busily occupied in that age-old simian pastime of searching for fleas on his belly.

Suddenly, a faint sound came to the ape-man's ears. He raised his head and discerned a distant figure racing toward him, a figure he recognized as a Waziri from his home country. Soon the runner raised a shout of joy. "Bwana, Bwana, I have found you at last."

Tarzan saw that the courier carried an envelope in the end of a split stick, as was the custom of African runners so that written messages might be protected from the streaming sweat of their bodies. The ape-man pulled out the envelope and tore it open.

The Waziri watched him expectantly as he read, for messages delivered in the depth of the jungle were rare indeed. As his eyes raced back and forth across the page, Tarzan's brow clouded. "Bad news, Bwana?" Muwiro asked anxiously. The ape-man nodded.

CASH IN POSSESSION OF CRAP PLAYER TRAPS MAN IN SLAYING HERE

Police Say Youth Confesses Death of Watchman, Theft of Salary.

Changing of a ten-dollar bill the morning after he had been "cleaned" in a crap game resulted yesterday in a signed confession from a negro arrested on a charge of suspicion of murder.

The negro, listed as Fred Strickland, 18, of a Lincoln drive address, allegedly confessed he killed Adam McNeil, 40, of 148 Walnut street, negro watchman, at the Sherman Concrete Pipe Company, 1285 Sylvan road.

McNeil was found early Sunday morning at the plant, his forehead crushed and one eye completely knocked out from a terrific blow. He had been paid $22.50 Saturday night, but no money was found when his body was discovered.

Detectives L. J. Taylor and Morgan Johnson, who investigated, learned there had been a crap game in the neighborhood, and that Strickland had lost money. Further inquiry revealed he had changed a ten-dollar bill early Sunday morning.

In his alleged confession, Strickland admitted striking McNeil with a wrench and taking $14 in cash. His brother, Grady Strickland, and his brother-in-law, Jessie Randall, were held as material witnesses after signing statements in which they allegedly said Strickland told them about the murder.

MRS. ETHEL BROWN PASSES SUDDENLY

Woman Collapses in Drug Store After Feeling Ill While Driving.

Mrs. Ethel M. Brown, of 880 Clifton road, collapsed yesterday morning in a drug store at Boulevard and Forest avenue and died before she could be taken to a hospital.

Witnesses said Mrs. Brown was riding in her automobile when she became ill and went into a drug store at the corner for a dose of ammonia. She collapsed before drinking it and was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

She is survived by her sister, Mrs. J. L. Singer, of Atlanta; two brothers, Donald McKie, of Atlanta, and C. D. McKie, of Detroit; and two nieces, Miss Louise McKie and Miss Katherine McKie.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

Gable Held Hollywood's Favorite To Play Rhett Butler, Cabot Says

BRUCE CABOT.

Film Star, On Stop Here, Refuses Prediction on Scarlett.

By YOLANDE GWIN.
Bruce Cabot, film star, left this morning for Palm Beach after a few hours' visit to Atlanta yesterday.

He said while here that Clark Gable was favored among the colony of stars to play Rhett Butler in the film version of Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With the Wind."

"But what about Scarlett O'Hara? Who is the favorite for that part?" he was asked.

"Gosh, don't ask me that. I don't want to get my neck into that! Who's your choice?" he answered, turning the question over to himself.

"Miriam Hopkins or Tallulah Bankhead" was the answer.

Noncommittal Cabot.

Well, Miriam is from Georgia, isn't she?" he replied without committing himself to a personal opinion or choice.

The handsome movie star, with clear gray eyes, brown hair and a complexion sunburned to a deep tan, was en route to Palm Beach for a brief vacation. He left Palm Springs, Cal., Wednesday night by plane and landed at Candler field yesterday afternoon.

"Atlanta is a swell place, according to all I've heard. This is my first visit here but I would surely like to be able to stay over and have a round of golf on some of your fine courses here."

Asked if golf was his favorite sport, the talented young actor said: "Well, it is in a way, but it's a toss-up between tennis and swimming. I expect to do a lot of surf bathing while I'm in Palm Beach. I won't have much time there, for I have to go to New York for some radio work before going back to the coast."

"Fashion Plate."

To say that the actor looked like a fashion plate would be no exaggeration. Over six feet in height, he wore a gray suit, gray shirt and grayish blue tie. He carried a topcoat of beige camel hair. He wore one ring which bore his family crest. His real name is Jacques de Bajac and his birthplace is Carlsbad, N. Mex.

His movie career has been varied as to his starring pictures, among the first being "Roadhouse Murder," "The Great Jasper" and "Ann Vickers," made in 1933. His last picture was "Sinner Take All," while during 1936 he made such a hit as "Don't Gamble With Love."

Dr. E. F. Boswell, of Kansas City, who was making the plane trip to St. Petersburg to join his wife for a late winter vacation, was a fellow passenger on the plane with Cabot.

"I got a big kick out of him being on the plane," he said. "I noticed him when I got on at Dallas and, of course, recognized him, but what struck me was that that there wasn't a girl on the plane. It seemed as if it was for 'men only,' but I couldn't help being amused over the fact that here was Bruce Cabot, one of the most popular stars from both the feminine and masculine viewpoint and not a girl on to meet him! I think he is a mighty fine young actor and I like him. I think he's a man's man."

"At the first stop in Shreveport," continued Dr. Boswell, "the passengers knew there was some one aboard mighty important because there were a lot of newspaper reporters and photographers there to meet us. Then the same thing happened at Monroe, La., then at Birmingham and now in Atlanta. But you are the only girl who has met him."

"YEAR IN RETROSPECT" IS SUBJECT OF SERMON
Ahavath Achim's regular 8:30 o'clock Friday night services will be concluded tonight with Rabbi Harry H. Epstein's sermon on "A Year in Retrospect." Cantor M. Landman and the choir will render the musical numbers for the occasion.

Tonight's services will be the twenty-third in the current series which are being conducted by the synagogue's brotherhood.

Named Special Assistant HIGHWAY BOARD ATTORNEY NAMED

Special Assistant to Handle Rural Post Roads for State.

SEWARD M. SMITH.

Seward M. Smith, Homerville, was appointed special assistant attorney general to handle legal matters in connection with the new rural post roads division of the State Highway Department, under an executive order signed by Governor E. D. Rivers late yesterday.

Duties of the position were outlined in the Governor's order as being to assist the department in condemnation proceedings, preparation and inspection of contracts between the highway board and the United States government, counties, cities and towns, and to represent the post roads division in any and all special legal cases. The matter of salary was left to the discretion of the highway board.

Mr. Smith was secretary-treasurer and general counsel of the State Highway Board for five years during the administration of John N. Holder as chairman.

A native of Clinch county, he served Emoryville as mayor before coming to Atlanta for his former connection with the road body. He is a veteran of the World War, serving for 24 months as a first lieutenant of artillery.

Man Thought 'Miss'; Red Faces Result

MOBILE, Ala., March 18.—(AP) There were some red faces in town today.

A corsage order for "Miss" Elmer Peterson was cancelled, also an invitation to share a guest room with another visitor.

The editor of Better Homes and Gardens, who arrived here today, hastened to explain that he was not "Miss."

"I hope you're not disappointed but I'm a married man and the father of four children," Peterson told the women's group he addressed.

HEN-HOUSE ALARM NETS CHICKEN THIEF

ASHBORO, N. C., March 18.—(AP) By using a chicken house alarm modeled after a bank vault alarm, Hugh T. Brown got his man.

Brown decided action was necessary after he lost 31 hens in a night.

So he rigged up an alarm with a battery between his bedroom and his chicken house.

He reached the chicken house just as two thieves were fleeing. He caught one; the other escaped.
